"Simply
The Best"

"Simply
The Best"

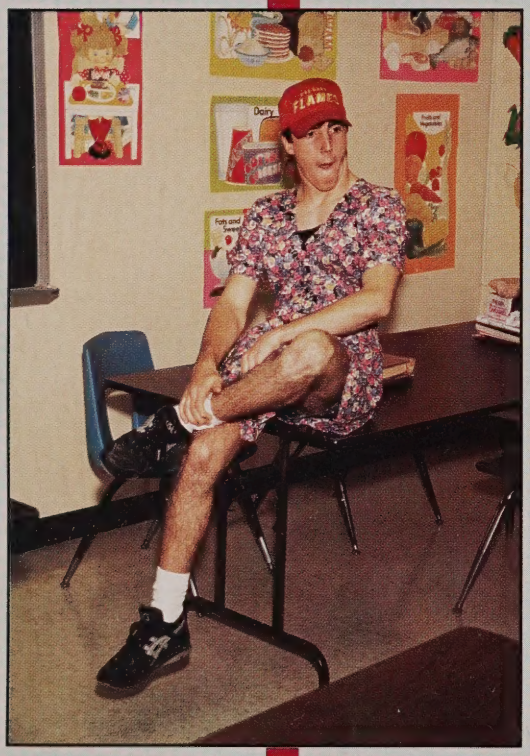
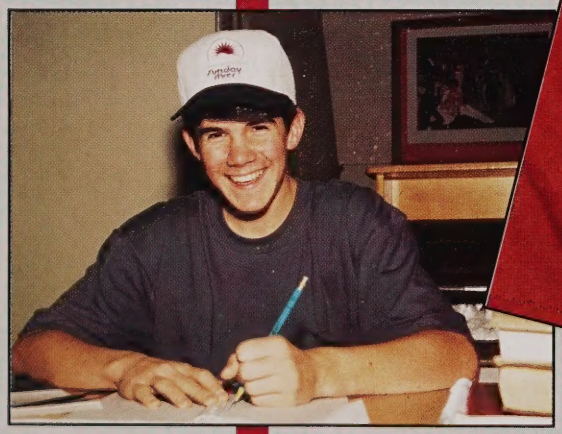
"Huh?"

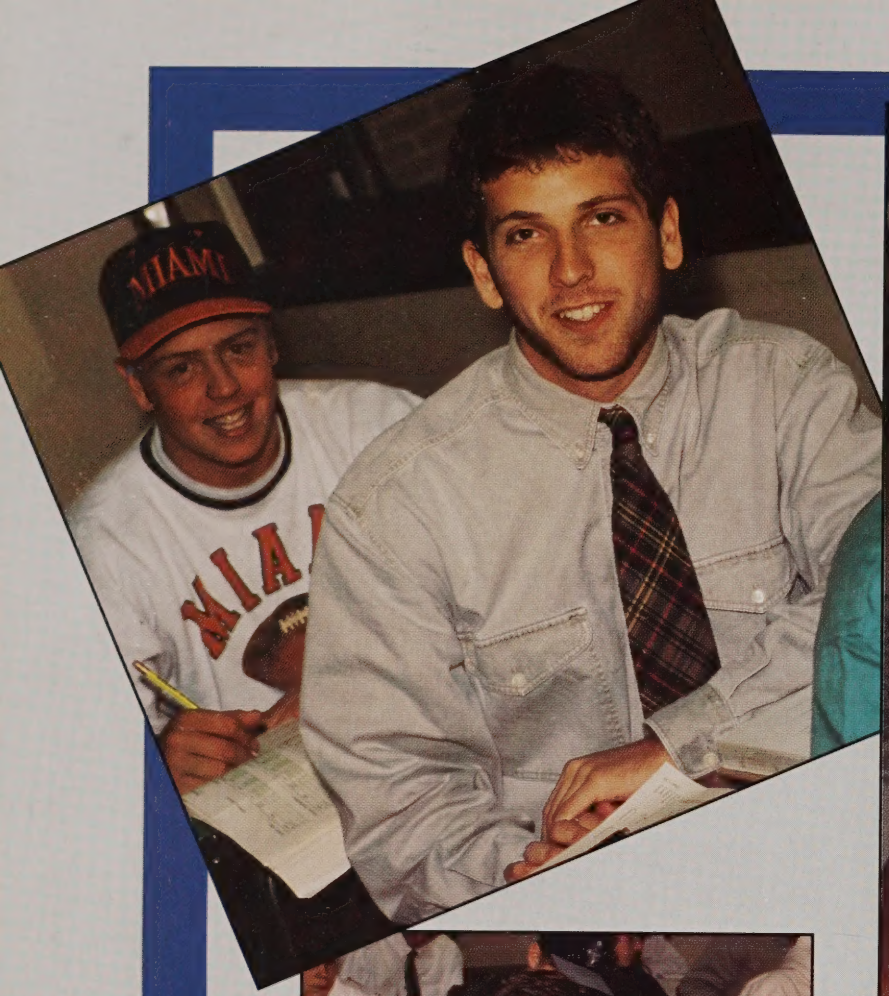


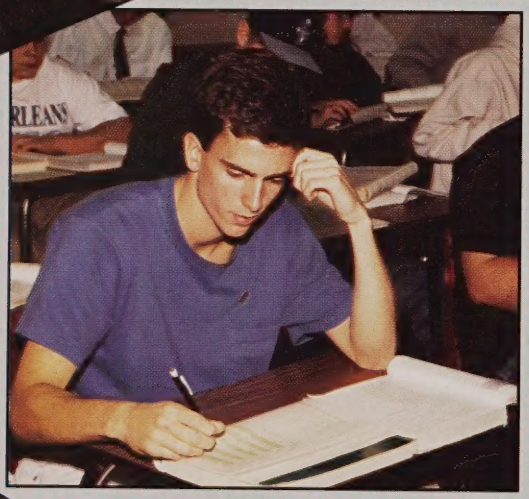
"The guys, they love me!"



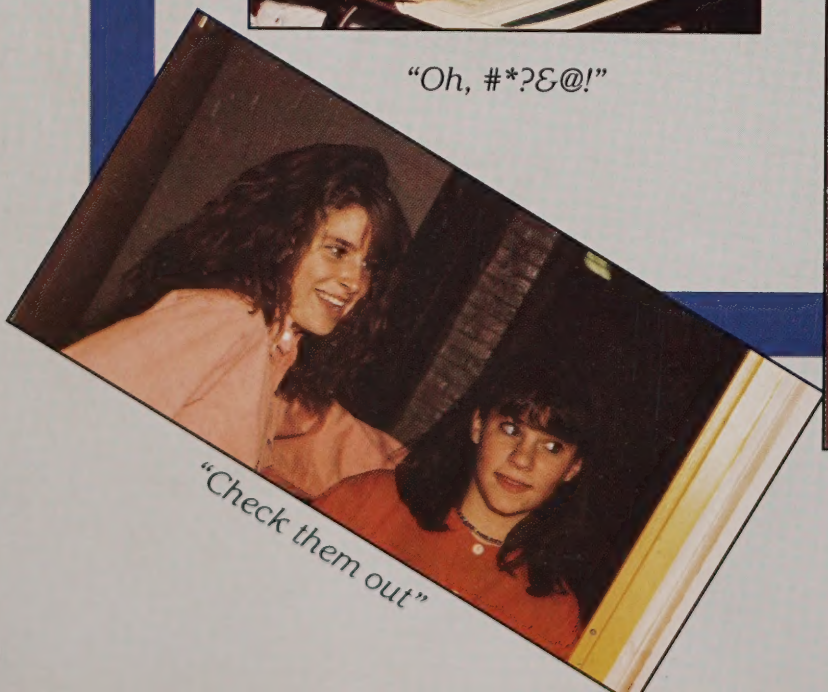
Life as a Rebel

Sherie warns,
"Don't eat the Rib-B-Q's!"



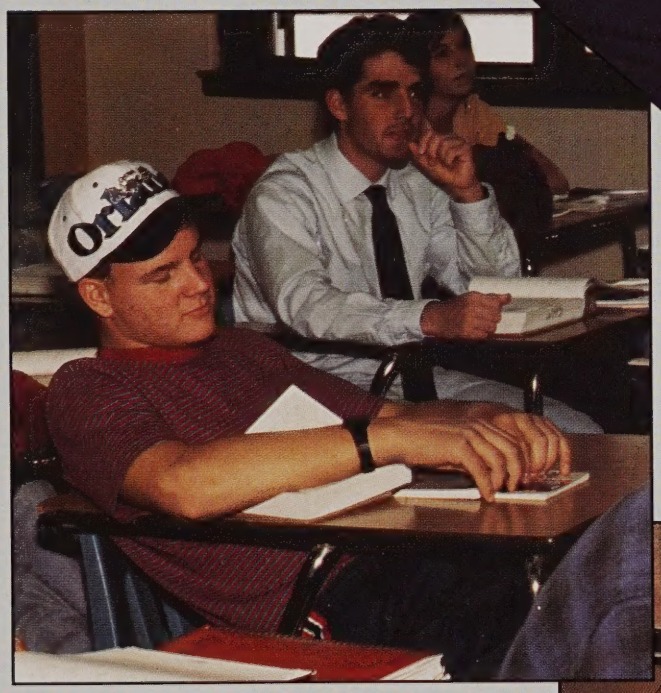


"Oh, #*?Ɛ@!"

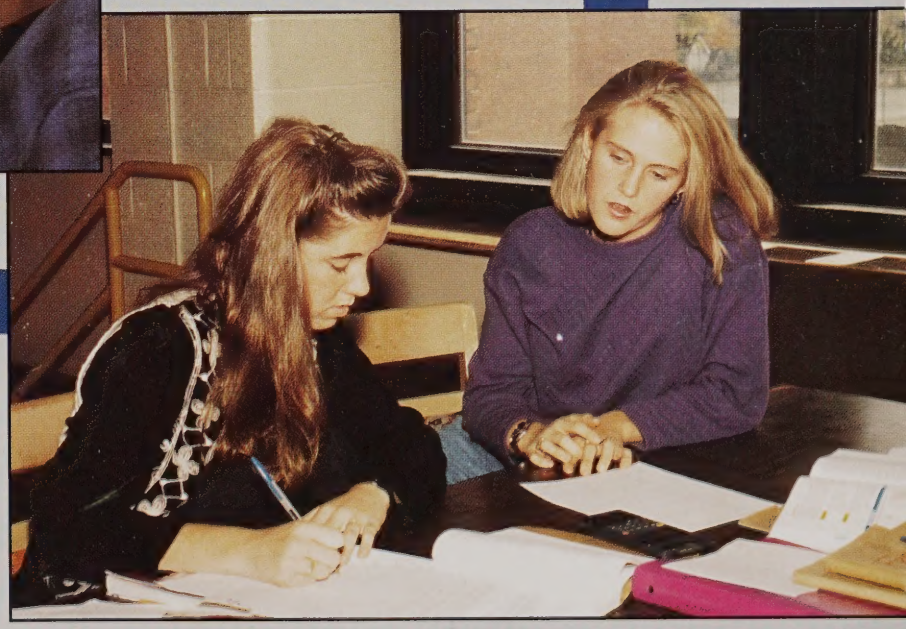


"Check them out"

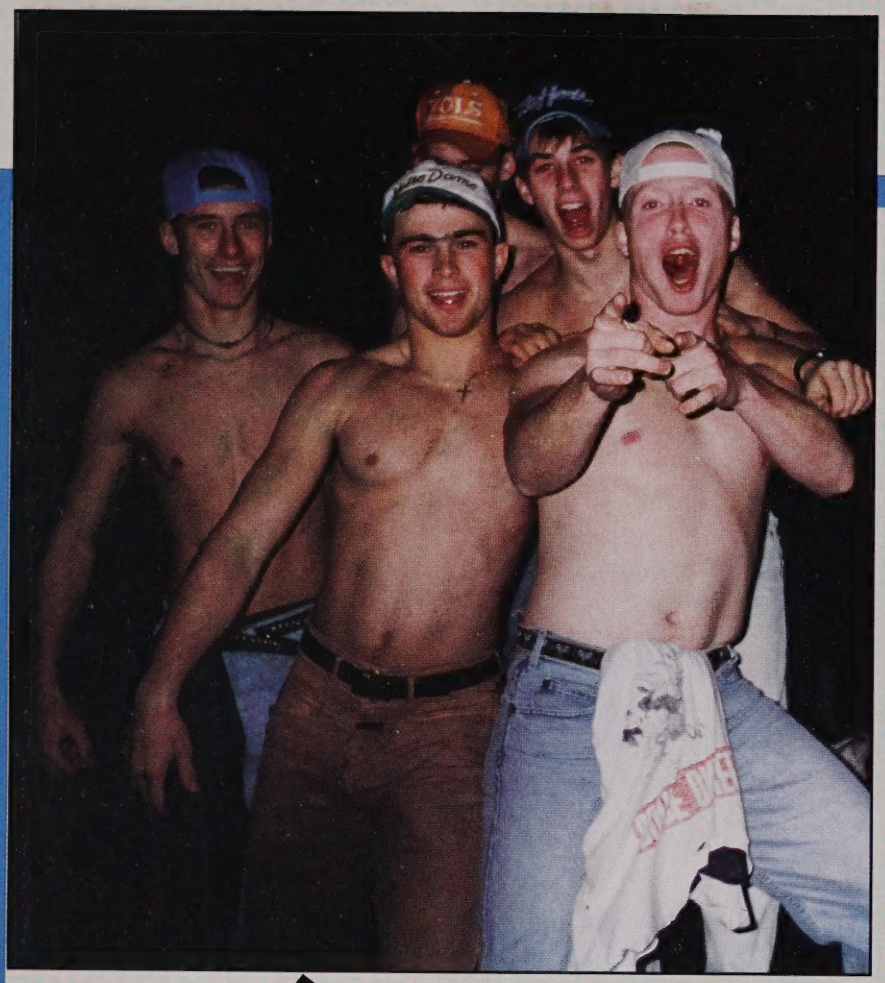
Simply smilin' ...



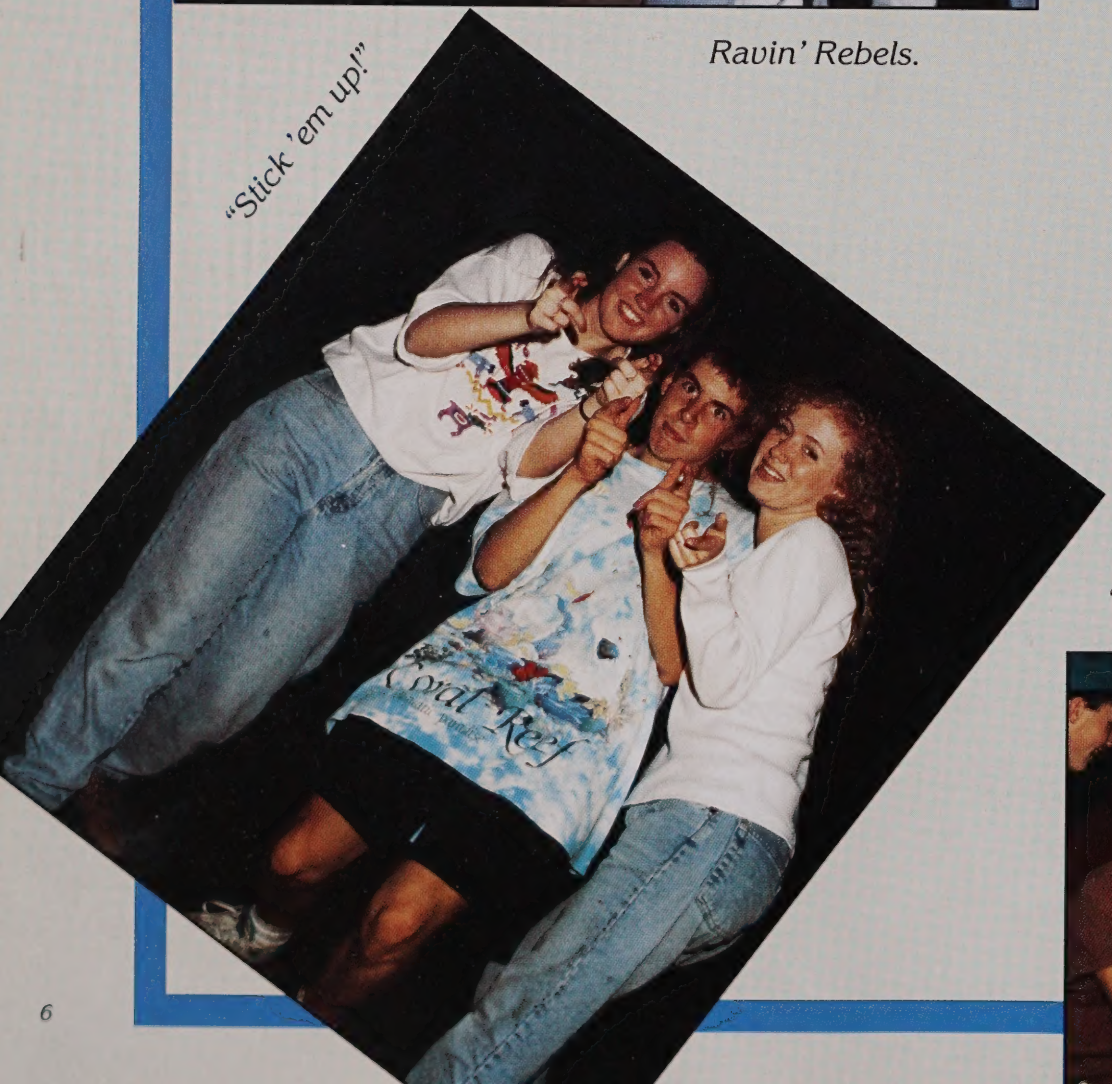
... simply snoozin'



Simply Rebellious



Ravin' Rebels.



"Stick 'em up!"

"Yeah, we're the cool guys."

"We're not as crazy as them."

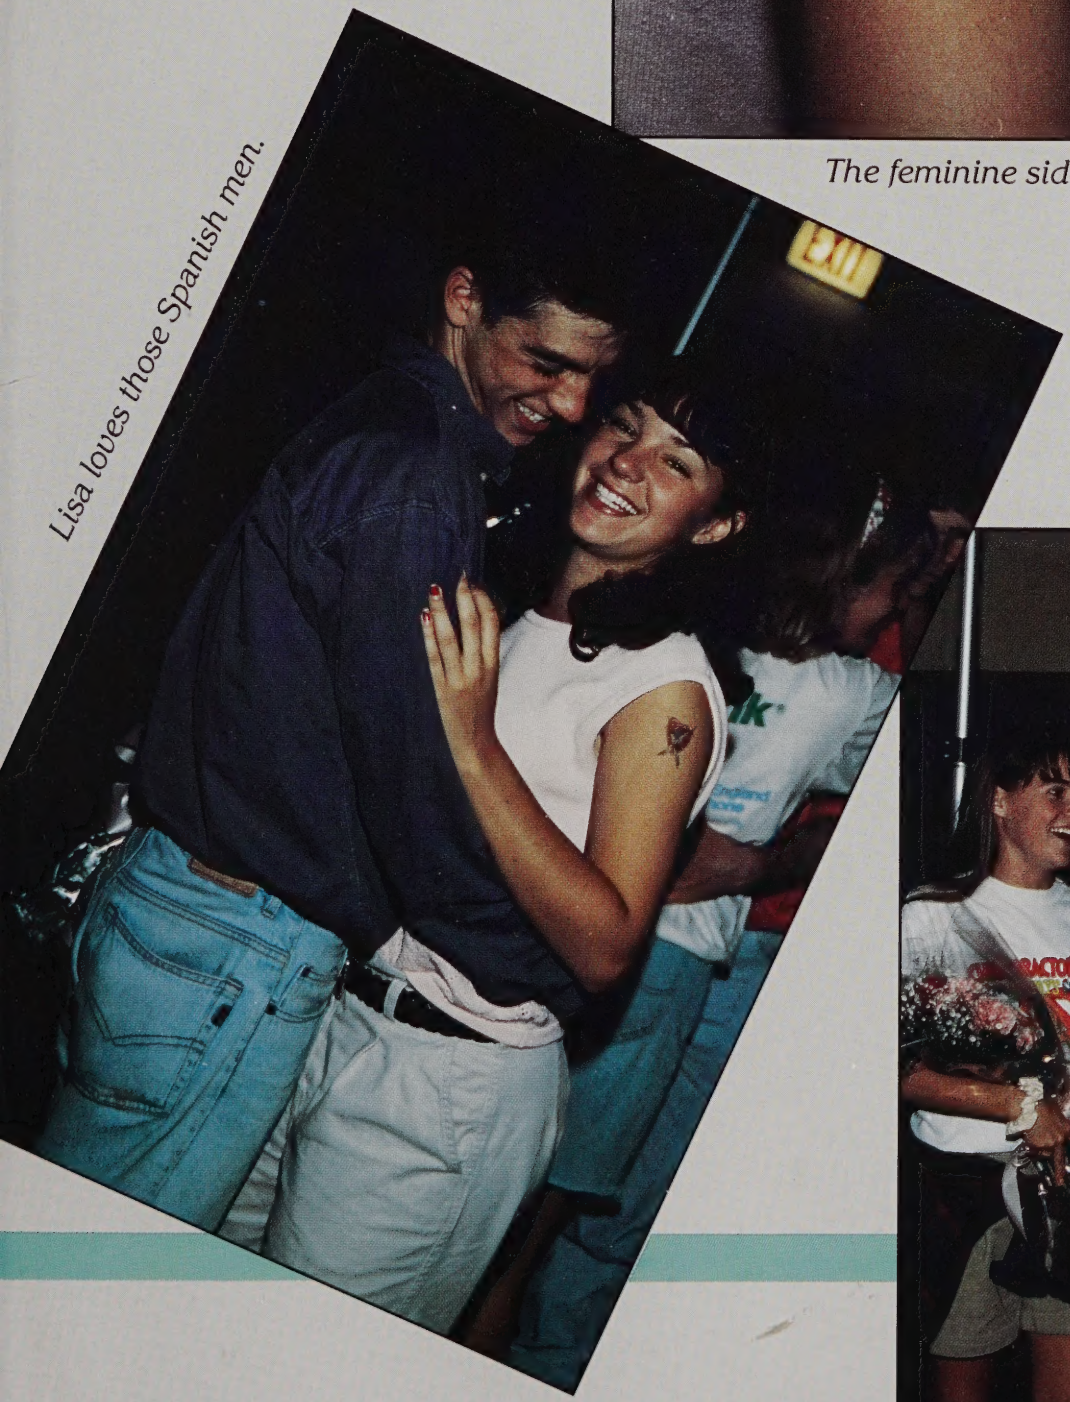
October 16, 1993

The feminine side of Walpole High.



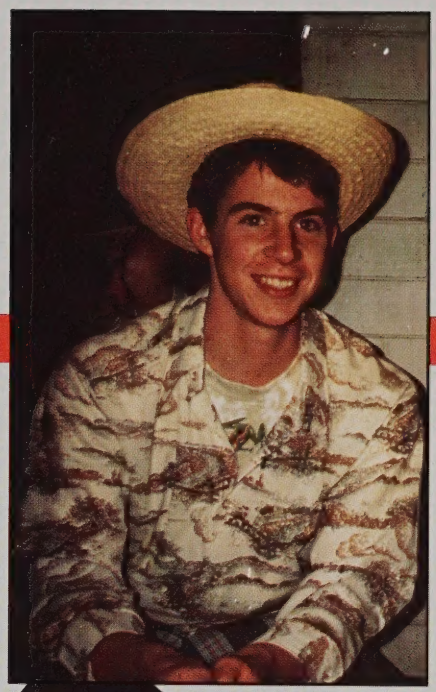
Lisa loves those Spanish men.

Simply Steve.

HALOWEEN

Super heroes with super powers.

Dolores dresses to impress.



A duo debut by John Carchedi and Mike Laurino.

Jen thinks Amy found the purr- fect costume.

REBEL PRIDE

Andrea saves the day.

BEL

The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena; whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs and comes short again and again; who knows the great enthusiasms, the great devotions, and spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement; and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly ...

-Theodore Roosevelt

Mike and Mike ponder the putt.

Patriots slam dunk the faculty

The first annual faculty vs. Patriots basketball game at Walpole High School was an overwhelming success. The Freshmen class officers and advisor Melinda Gula put together a great show for all who attended.

The Patriots were obviously the superior athletes, but showed the crowd they were sportsman as well. Mercifully, when the faculty fell too far behind the Patriots tossed in a basket or two for the overmatched opposition.

Among the Patriots who attended the event were rookie sensation and first round draft pick, Drew Bledsoe. Other Patriots on hand were Mike Gisler, Mike Arthur, Brandon Moore, Vernon Lewis, Corey Croom, Chris Slade, Mike Kerr, and Dwayne Saab.

It's everyone's hope that this fund-raiser will become a tradition here at Walpole High. It was enjoyable to watch and was a financial success for the class of 1997.

When in Rome...

The annual Roman Banquet was held Thursday, May 12. Latin Students from Mrs. Penny Calf's classes dressed as ancient Romans and recreated Roman sports and entertainment.

Part of the entertainment included Keith Capobianco, John Hagberg, Mike Malin, and Eddie Verrochi carrying their teacher from the school to the football field on a full scale litter made by Liz Jones and Christine Killelea.

The festivities began with a slave auction. The Latin 1 slaves, bound in paper chains, were auctioned off to Latin 2 and 3 nobles and gods by auctioneers Laura Cence, Judy Collins and Jen Lougee.

During the auction, the best-dressed Romans were judged to be: Lisa Burke (Miss Rome), Ken Kneeland (Mr. Rome), Amy Batchelder (Miss Mount Olympus). Greg Levy (Mr. Mount Olympus), Broke LaSalle (Serva Pulcherrima), and Allen Wong (Servus Pulcherrimus). The most realistic goddess was Laura Cence as Minerva.

The most realistic slaves were Abby Perham and Kristian Ferrera. The most creative costumes belonged to Kristen Barrile and Katie Cassidy, who dressed as twins.

The students then paraded to the football field for the Olympics, carrying banners made by Latin 1. Also brought to the field was Mr. Chuck Grant, who was chosen by the Latin students as Latin Club Honorary for 1994.

As always, the highlight of the evening was the chariot race. Eight chariots built by students of all Levels of Latin, competed in four thrilling races on the high school track. The chariot of Ferrera, Perham and Lunden Abelson was the winner.

Some of the most realistic and creative Chariots belonged the trios of: Liz Jones, Christine Killelea and Susan Sheehan; Kristen Barrile, Leah Carlson and Katie Cassidy; Beth Kelly, Michelle Smith, and Noelle Swan.

Other Olympic events were: the Janus race (won by Brian Martin and Meredith Tarbell); the three-legged race (Martin and P.J. Beltramini); the piggyback race (Martin and Tarbell); balloon breaking (Lori Collins and John Hagberg); 4x100 relay (Chris Benevides, Hagberg, Judy and Lori Collins); and the pie eating contest (Beltramini and Judy Collins).

Once again, the Roman Banquet showed that you don't have to speak a foreign language to live it. Latina vivit!

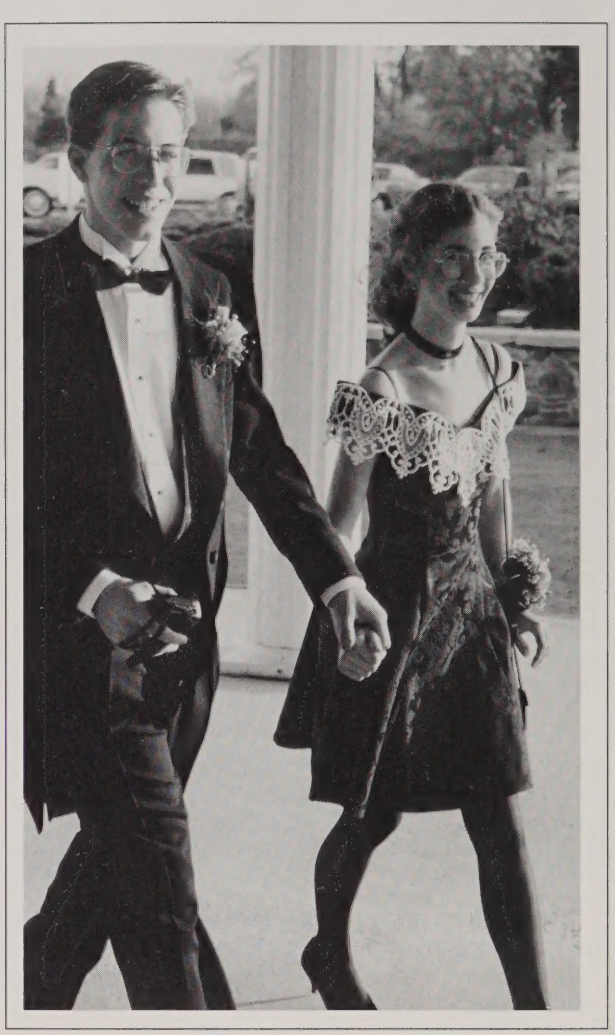
The Prom



— Heaven —

The prom. Some dread it, but most look forward to it since before they can remember. Every year it takes tremendous planning and preparation to pull it off. But every year, for better or worse, it somehow comes together and makes for some defining moments that may never leave you.

According to the invitations, the prom was held on Friday, May 13, 1994 at Demitri's. But for most of us it lasted the entire weekend at a variety of locations. The day of the prom was filled with sporting events, appointments at hair and makeup salons, and gatherings of friends for pictures. Upon their arrival at Demetri's, students entered a ballroom transformed into a celestial masterpiece by Mrs. Hampe, the prom committee, and made possible by the class officers.

For some the prom caused mixed feelings due to high costs, the selection of food served, and the music which ranged from disco to rap. But the intense energy level and spirit in the room seemed to make up for all that.

Alan Weatherbee and Kerri Reardon were crowned as the King and Queen of the night. In their court were Imani Akram, Brian Lambert, Erin McCrave, Enrique Segura, Jessica Rudolph, Paul Reynard, Sherie Farah, Ed Poitras, Patty Kelly, and Eric VanNess.

It may already seem that the Prom took place on a "heavenly" night a lifetime ago. But with a toast in the gold inscribed glass from that night, the memory may always be found.

Fun in the sun

What started off as a dark and dreary morning, ended up as a wild and crazy afternoon in the hot May sun. As the crowds of WHS students stormed the football field, the Student Council busily arranged the activities for the day.

All classes met in the stands to watch several of their classmates participate in the obstacle course. The day was then turned over to the students to do as they wished. From tennis to the slam dunk contest, a variety of activities were available for everyone to participate in.

After a great cookout prepared and served by the "cafeteria ladies" the band arrived. Students then gathered on the football field to dance and sing uncontrollably to an array of familiar tunes.

It all came to an end with the tug-o-war contest amongst the classes. The day was a great success, and a memorable time for all.

This year's Pops Nite was held May 20 in the high school gymnasium. Traditionally Pops Nite is for, as one might expect, popular music. As well, it is an opportunity for the graduating seniors to shine on stage for one last time in their high school careers.

The groups who performed were the concert band, jazz ensemble, chorus, jazz choir, madrigals, and orchestra.

The familiar music and great dancing kept the large crowd on their toes. Flowers and gifts were given to the directors, who had worked hard all year pushing the students to be the best musicians they can be. Pops Nite brought the musical year to memorable close.

Walpole Music Trip '94

The music trip that wasn't

When approximately 120 excited WHS music students pulled out of the high school parking lot at 6:00 a.m. Thursday, April 14 they had no idea what was in store for them.

Two of the three coach buses traveling through Connecticut to a music competition in Williamsburg, Virginia were involved in a three car accident on route 95, at the New Haven and East Haven line. It was a so-called chain reaction accident. One bus hit a stalled pick-up truck in front of it which caused the bus following it to rear-end the lead bus.

Thirty-six students suffered minor injuries and were transported to Yale, New Haven, and Saint Raphael's hospitals in New Haven. Injuries included cuts, bruises, whiplash, back strains, and broken teeth. Some injuries required stitches.

With the severity of the accident as such, the decision was made to return home. Walpole's hopes of participating and coming away winners in the competition were dashed.

Uninjured students were taken to a local fire department where they watched themselves on the news and calmed their nerves with chips and soda. Students were then taken to a New Haven elementary school where they had lunch, watched movies, and were allowed to call home while they waited for their hospitalized friends and new buses. Shaken by the whole ordeal, students were impressed with the amount of kindness and hospitality shown by the people of New Haven.

The lone bus not involved in the accident continued traveling to the New Jersey border, unaware of any trouble. When it stopped for a scheduled break, the driver and the students aboard the bus were informed there was an accident involving the other two buses. As instructed, the driver turned the third bus around and took the students back to Walpole.

That night when the buses arrived back at the high school a crowd of anxious family and friends, as well as a horde of local press, were waiting for them.

Though disappointed they were unable to participate in a competition they had practiced so hard for all year, students were content to be home and safe, and that no one was seriously injured. Better luck next year.

National Honor Society induction ceremony

The National Honors Society held its annual induction ceremony on May 25. It was on this night that the juniors participated in the lighting of the candles with the senior members, signifying their new membership. It is also the night that NHS seniors recognized the teachers who had the greatest influence on their education.

Dan Carney recognizes Mrs. Sullivan for her contributions to his education.

Senior Katie Gallahue observes the festivities.

Peter Valle thanks Chuck Grant for all he has done for him.

Elation and nostalgia

It was a day of mixed emotions. The Class of 1994 walked out to the football field for the last time together at 1:00 PM on Sunday, June 5, 1994. Some were elated, some were nostalgic, but most felt a strange combination of the two. Sitting in the blazing sun, classmates came to the realization that four years of Walpole High School were suddenly over, and it was now time for everyone to go their separate ways. In the following pages, you will find the photos and the speeches that depict the range of emotions felt on that day.

Graduation

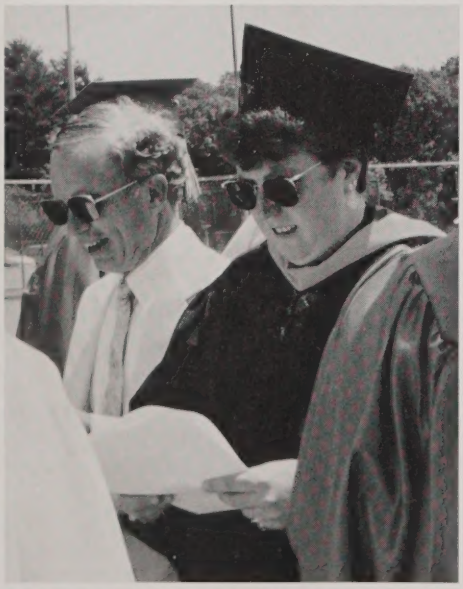
Mark and Heather make their way to the field.



Good afternoon graduates, parents, relatives, friends, invited guests, Superintendent Cibotti, School Committee members, and faculty:

"There are places I'll remember all my life
Though some have changed
Some forever, not for better
Some have gone and some remain
All these places have their moments with lovers and friends
I still can recall
Some are dead and some are living
and in my life I've loved them all...."

This is a quote from a song by the Beatles. A symbol of a generation confused and lost, yet filled with desire.

Isn't it ironic that now, in 1994, this quote has found its way into a graduation speech of our generation. Well.....what IS our generation? Oh yes, we are the generation X. Characterized as apathetic, aimless, and apolitical. It has been said, as directly quoted by the Boston Globe, that we have the potential to be the first generation in US history to not meet the living standards of our parents. Yes, this is a very scary thought. We live in a world of uncertainty. Day to day we never know which countries will be engaged in war, which new species is facing extinction, or who will be the next victim of a senseless act of violence. Yes it is true that our world is not all roses, but we can not dwell on these obstacles. We have been presented with many problems to solve and disasters to prevent, but let us view these as challenges rather than ties which hold us back.

Our class motto is, "What lies behind us and what lies before us are unimportant compared to what lies within us." We must never forget these words. The past is gone, and the future has yet to arrive. Therefore, we must focus our attention on today, and make it so great that it will be worth remembering. We as a class have the potential to be the best of the best, and as a generation we have a big responsibility. Not only do we have to prove what we are made of, but we have to disprove these preconceived notions associated with us. Inevitably this will not be easy, but we can not simply sit around and complain. People who sit around, feel bad for themselves and complain about society's problems are as much to blame as the parties involved. You can knock the government, you can complain about laws, or you can get out there and do something about it. I would like to share a great quote from Theodore Roosevelt, "The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena; who knows the great enthusiasms, the great devotions, and spends himself in a worthy cause; who at best knows the triumph of high achievement; and who at worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls...who know neither victory or defeat."

As a class we have grown tremendously. We have learned to deal with serious loss, through the loss of parents, siblings, and our dearly missed friend and classmate Timmy Doyle. We've learned to love, and most importantly, many of us have discovered the type of person that we really want to be. Many strong friendships have formed, and yes, some of us have discovered that sometimes people and situations are not always as they appear. Walpole High has presented us with the tools and materials necessary to succeed in life. Let's not let these tools rot and materials rust, instead let's make things happen.

Just remember that there are no shortcuts to the top, and in order to succeed, sacrifices must be made. Remember that in order to have true friends, you must first be a true friend, and that change in certain cases, can be positive. Take the time to tell people that you love them, and thank your parents every once in a while, especially today, because it really is as much their day as it is ours.

And now my fellow graduates...my friends...I leave you with a poem by Veronica Shawn, which I believe pertains to each of our lives.

"After a while you learn the subtle difference between holding a hand and changing a soul you learn that love doesn't mean learning and company does not mean security you begin to learn that kisses aren't contracts and presents aren't promises.
you begin to accept your defeat with your head up and your eyes open
with the grace of an adult
not the grace of a child
You learn to build all your roads on today
Because tomorrow's ground is too uncertain for plans
After a while you learn that even sunshine burns
if you get too much.
So plant your own garden and decorate your own soul
Instead of waiting for someone to bring you flowers
And you will learn that you really can endure that you really are strong and that you really do have worth..."

Good luck in all future endeavors, stand strong, keep your face to the sun, and never forget the lessons that we've learned together as a class...the CLASS OF 1994!

Graduation

For the past twelve or so years, we, the class of 1994, have been constantly graded and judged. Our reputations and actions of the past often formed the basis for how adults view us. Often it seems as if we are more of a number, a grade, or a list of achievements than we are real individuals who are in fact individual and unique.

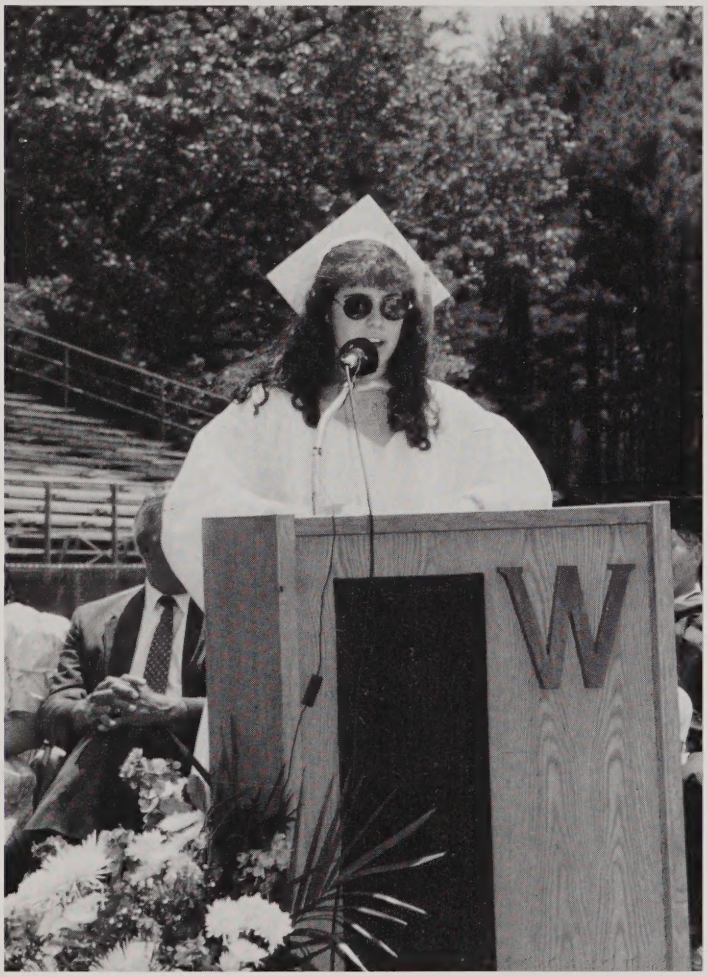
And though we may see this as a foible of those in authority, how many of us here can truly say that we have never judged some-one before we got to know them?

We have been together the past four years, but how many can say that they truly know everyone who is about to graduate today?

When we forget that jocks are not necessarily stupid, that AP students are not necessarily geeks, that popular people are not necessarily snobs, that musicians aren't necessarily annoying, and that regulars in detention are not necessarily menaces to society, when we forget all this we close our minds and give up the chance to make many friends.

I cannot honestly say that I always recognized the truth of my own words while I was at Walpole High School.

For my own part, I made hasty judgments. But when I did shove away my preconceptions about others, I was always pleasantly surprised to find a new friend where there had once been a stranger. My greatest regret is that I am not able to say that I really know everyone before me today.



Salutatorian Sara Oremland addresses the Class of 1994.

Most of us here have lived in Walpole, or another small town, for all our lives. In the coming years, many of us will be exposed to different places, people and ideas. Just as it is important to be non judgmental about new ideas, with an open mind your possibilities will expand.

Due to modern communications, the whole world is in our back yard, and we must be ready to greet it openly.

Indeed, we face a world of new experiences. I know that all of us can achieve greatness. I hope all of us will be great people as well.

Graduation

Members of the honorable school committee, faculty, Superintendent Cibotti, parents, family and invited guests, and last but not least, my fellow Rebels:

The word "Rebel" has been defined as one who rebels, or rises up ... an insurgent, or mutineer. A "Rebellion" is considered to be "organized opposition intended to change existing authority by way of insurrection or revolt."

Whereas it may seem that the word "rebel" sometimes has a negative connotation, I feel that in both American historical terms and even in current times in Walpole, MA, the rebel notion is a source of inspiration and courage which I know will help us all in our future lives.

During the recent past, the term "rebel" and our school's insignia flag became the subject of some editorials and the target of some who focused on the new concept of their "political correctness."

However, it seems to me that as we embark on our life's journey from this institution and this strong and close-knit community, we can all be proud to tell our new acquaintances along the way that we are from Walpole, MA, home of the Rebels!

The class of 1994 has chosen the following class motto as the appropriate reflection of our collective feelings as we prepare for our adult lives:

"What lies behind us and what lies before us are unimportant compared to what lies within us."

In my view, it is that which lies within us which will indeed dictate the course of our individual futures. Whether it be in the classroom, on the athletic field, or in the jobs of our future, I urge you all to continually think of our class motto, and especially the spirit and courage associated with rebellion as your continued source of inspiration.

We can all say with pride that the United States as we know it today is a Mecca for the multitudes who constantly migrate here because it is a land of freedom, opportunity and hope.

Valedictorian John Jankowski addresses the Class of 1994.

Would we have had such opportunities were it not for the strong sense of rebellion shown by our forefathers, the colonists? I don't think so.

It was the great Thomas Jefferson who once said, "A little rebellion is a good thing ... Rebellion is as necessary in the political world as storms are in the physical world."

I am proud to say that Mr. Jefferson's notion of rebellion and the importance of what's within us can still be evidenced in our own little town of Walpole.

Let there be no doubt that the sustained rebellion that our parents have recently won against state government and the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority in our fight against being named as the state's first sludge site is clearly another major victory for this town, and should be a source of courage and inspiration for all of us to carry to the future.

So, thanks to all of you great teachers, family and friends for you love and support, and especially for reinforcing in all of us the notion that it's what is within us that is most important. May we all draw upon this notion as a source of strength in our new endeavors.

In closing, I would like to quote from President John F. Kennedy as I urge my fellow classmates to announce to all who will listen: "It is time for a new generation of leadership to cope with new problems and new opportunities, for there is a new world to be won!"

A few important things that the senior class has learned:

1) A patrol car behind you should make you nervous.
2) If you spread the peas around on your plate then it looks like you ate more.
3) When you finally get your room the way you like it, your parents will make you clean it up
4) If chewing gum has been dropped on the sidewalk within the past forty-eight hours, your shoes will find it.
5) Eating chocolate won't solve your problems, but it won't hurt either.
6) When traveling overseas, it is best to carry a supply of American made toilet paper.
7) Milk tastes best when it is drunk out of the container.
8) Your teacher will always call on you when you don't know the answer.
9) You shouldn't confuse a black crayon with a tootsie roll.
10) Always remember to live, love, and laugh.

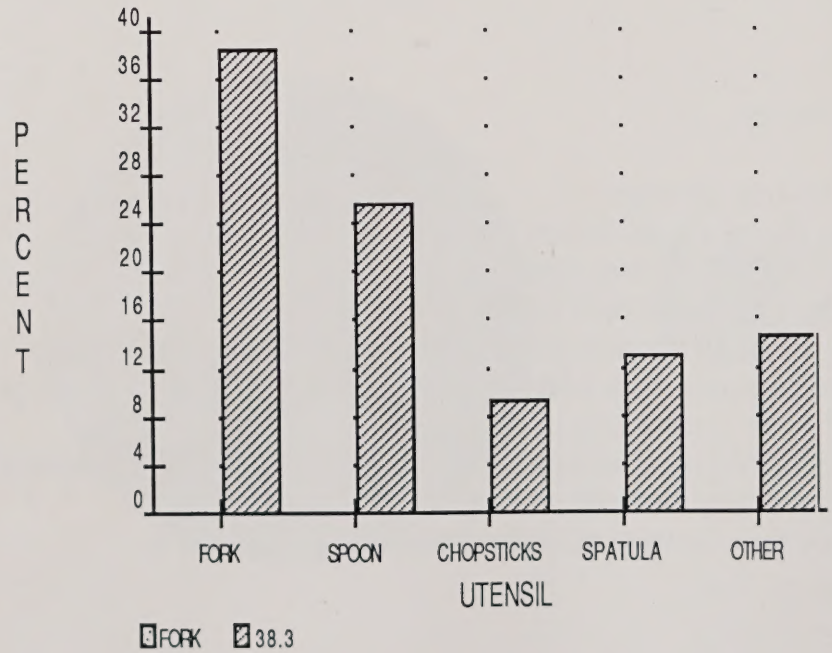
Ten rules to live by.....

1) Sing in the shower.
2) Learn three clean jokes a month.
3) Never refuse homemade cookies.
4) Put the cap back on the toothpaste.
5) Put a lot of little marshmellows in your hot chocolate.
6) At the movies, buy M&Ms and sprinkle them in your popcorn.
7) Don't lock your keys in the car.
8) Homeroom isn't enough time to do all of your homework.
9) Always carry breath mints.
10) Every rule is meant to be broken .... just do it.

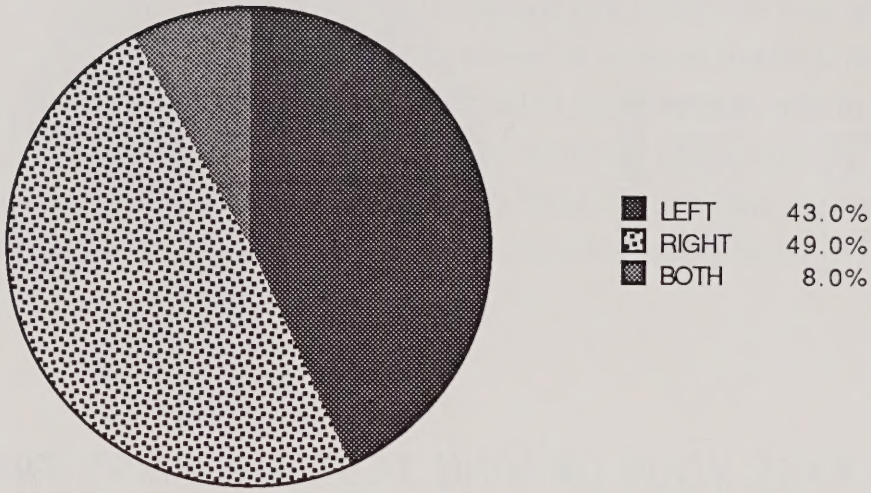
Things to make you say Hmmmm:

1) What is the purpose of a warning label on a mattress? What will happen if you rip it off?
2) Why do donuts have holes?
3) How do they get mint flavoring on toothpicks?
4) Why is one side of Reynolds Wrap aluminum foil shiny and the other side dull?
5) Why do firehouses have dalmatians?
6) Why is scoring three goals in a sport called a hat trick?
7) Why are the flush handles on toilets on the left side?
8) How do they print the "M&M" on M&M's chocolate candies?
9) Why don't magazines put the page number on every page?
10) Why has the banana peel become known as an agent to make someone slip and fall?

WHAT IS YOUR FAVORITE KITCHEN UTENSIL?



WHICH PANT LEG DO YOU PUT ON FIRST?



A few of life's biggest aggravations are:

1) Stepping on a wet floor with your socks on.
2) Trying on a pair of sunglasses with that little plastic tag in the middle of them.
3) Batteries not included.
4) The tiny red string on the band aid wrapper never works.
5) The waiter removes your plate before you've finished eating.
6) The edges of your potato chips are green.
7) Having a song stuck in your head that's driving you crazy.
8) Waking up from a dream and then not being able to remember what it was.
9) Accidentally phoning the person that you just talked to.
10) The tip of your ball point pen leaves blobs of ink on your paper, and you smear them by accident.

The top ten pick-up lines at Walpole High...

1) Be different, say yes.
2) You are so sweet you are going to put sugar out of business.
3) I seem to have lost my number. Can I have yours.
4) You make me melt like hot fudge on a sundae.
5) I'm not drunk. I am intoxicated by you.
6) I'm a math major. What is your cosine?
7) You are hotter than Georgia asphalt on a summer day.
8) If beauty were a crime you would be doing life.
9) Excuse me, may I have directions to your heart?
10) There are three words to descibe you: simply the best.

DID YOU PASS YOUR DRIVING TEST THE FIRST TIME?

In loving memory of Timothy Doyle...

Timothy Francis Doyle was your typical fun-loving teenager, whose trademark was a baseball cap and a smile that could melt your heart.

He had a passion for sports. He could name every baseball player, their stats, and the value of their card. He had an equal command of professional basketball. But his true love was soccer. Tim could own or control any soccer field on any given day.

If he could tell us how he would want us to remember him, he'd say we should dry our eyes and smile.

Dear Tim,

I think about you a lot and will never forget our friendship. I never had a better catch partner or one-on-one opponent and I never will. I am glad that we were, and in my heart still are, good friends since elementary school. It was good that we lived so close to each other and were able to have all those good times together. I also think a lot about you, Dave, and that night and what happened. No matter how many times I run through in my head what happened that night, I never come up with any explanations. God's ways are complicated. Tim, thank you for watching over me— I know you are. If Heaven is full of people like you and Dave, then it must be as nice as everyone thinks it is. Help us to live life to the fullest as only you could.

Love,
Jimmy Sanzi

Doyle has the ball, his long legs controlling its every movement. He fakes one way and moves swiftly in the other direction, moving past the stunned defender. Another head fake and a body shift and Doyle is in all alone. Things slow down and become quiet. The score is 2-2 and time is running short. He focuses through his thick eye glasses and measures up his shot. He lets it go. It soars past the diving goaltender and settles in the upper left corner of the net. The whistle blows signifying the end of the game. Tim won the game with his grace, style, and skill. We couldn't help but admire him; he will be forever missed. Thanks Tim. I hope you are scoring goals like this one in heaven.

Your Friend,
Alan Weatherbee

"Your cheerfulness, your zest, your flirtatiousness, your wit, your youth are etched in our memories."

- Mrs. Marcia Marinelli

Thinking about you as the tears run down my face,
I'll always have, in my heart for you, a very special place.
You have been gone so long now, and it's still hard to believe,
that we're no longer together, it makes me want to grieve.

When I pass by your locker hoping to see your smile,
I all of a sudden realize that I won't be seeing it for a while.
The empty feeling inside of me has not gone away, but I know that it will when I see you again some day.

I know that you're happy in heaven now with God, your mom, and Dave, and I want to thank you for all the love and happiness you gave.
Words cannot describe, how I miss you so;
Timmy, you are the first true love my heart will ever know.

I'll never forget you.
Love always,
Kristen Stumpo

Changing symbols

The Confederate flag and "Dixie" are out

Following public complaints of inappropriateness, the Confederate flag and song "Dixie," were banned this year by the Walpole High School administration. Football players will no longer be allowed to wear the Rebel flag under their helmets, and "Dixie" will no longer be played by the school band as has been the tradition for some years now. The school wants to disassociate itself from the perceived southern /racist motif associated with the Confederate flag and "Dixie."

The school was first made aware of the problem in 1988 when an accreditation committee that evaluated the performance of the school commented in its report that "Regardless of how innocently the symbol evolved, or even if the community of Walpole looks upon it as a symbol of pride, spirit and unity, the use of the Confederate flag may be inappropriate due to its historical ramifications."

Although the confederate flag has never been the official symbol of Walpole High School, it was at the time of this report that Principal Lester Burch decided that the flag should be changed to the version with a "W" made of stars, instead of the version with an "X." This flag was carried by the band. Nonetheless, players were still permitted to wear the Confederate flag.

These accommodations did not satisfy the critics. Some still said that the song "Dixie" was offensive. These sentiments withstanding prompted the administration to ban the playing of "Dixie" beginning in the fall of 1994. Though the lyrics of "Dixie" may not sound offensive to many, the songs history can explain why there are those who are opposed to it being played. According to Mr. Burch, the lyrics were written by a white man in black slave dialect, who performed the song in black face.

The history of the "Rebels" at the high school goes back nearly 30 years. Sometime during the 1965-1966 school year, the football team's name was changed from the "Hilltoppers" to the "Rebels." However the other teams remained the Hilltoppers. Officially, these were the rebels of the American Revolution, not of the Civil War. By 1967, most of the sports teams assumed the Rebel name.

Beginning in 1969, the Confederate flag became a common sight at Walpole football games. This seemed to coincide with the hiring of John Lee "The General" as football coach. Coach Lee, now the Athletic Director, was not, however, responsible for the flags appearance at games. According to one source, the name "The General" was started by a reporter from the Dedham Transcript, who was searching for a catchy headline for his story on the coach's winning season in his second year at WHS. It was from this point that the play on words with "General Lee" and the "Rebels" changed the historical reference from the Revolutionary war to the Civil War. Thereupon, the association with the Rebels of the Confederacy was born. In the next few years a mascot dressed as a Confederate officer began parading the sidelines during football games. And soon after the song "Dixie" became the song played by the band after every Rebel touchdown.

Unfortunately, traditions that have flourished for decades will not die overnight. The "X" version of the flag will remain on the uniforms until they wear out. This is not a gesture of defiance, but an economic decision. To replace the uniforms of the football, hockey, and tennis teams would be a costly move that neither the school nor booster clubs can afford. Moreover, despite the official change with the flag, and the elimination of "Dixie," the Rebel legacy may stubbornly linger at the school. Because change is slow, and old habits are often hard to break, you may still occasionally see the Confederate flag during sporting events or hear voices singing "Dixie" after a touchdown. To understand this may be to understand the defiant legacy of the "Rebels" of both the Revolutionary and Civil Wars and the seeds of that association that were so innocently sewn at Walpole High school many years ago.

"I will prepare and someday my chance will come."

Setting a new standard

Despite a late start and a number of initial adversities it was a year of firsts for the 1994 yearbook and its staff. It began in October with forty ambitious staffers attending an informative seminar, hosted by Walsworth Publishing at the Royal Plaza Hotel in Fitchburg, on the Do's and Don'ts of yearbook publishing. From there it has been hard work pure and simple.

Striving to make the most of theme "Simply the Best," the '94 staff broke dramatically from yearbook publishing norms as Walpole High School has come to know them. For the first time in WHS history the yearbook was completely designed and laid out on computer. With the help of new advisor John Ferro, the staff was able to computerize the book's design. His background in journalism, computer design and layout, and photography, greatly enhanced the quality of the yearbook. In using the latest desktop design and publishing techniques, it was the intent of the staff to produce the most dynamic and enduring WHS yearbook ever.

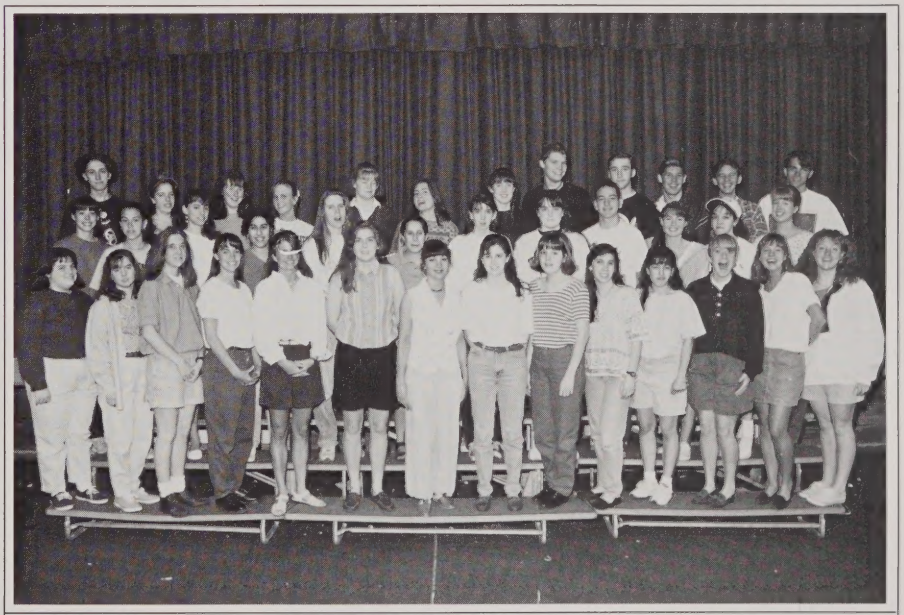
Though the book was designed on computer to give it a more professional look, the staff strived to maintain certain traditional yearbook elements. Design and production changes were implemented for both creative and business reasons. Striking a balance between traditional and cutting edge publishing methods was at times trying. The transition, from old to new, was not always smooth. In some instances it was difficult to know what to keep, what to change, and what to throw out.

One of the most dramatic changes to this year's book was the addition of underclassmen. The thinking was that this should be a book for the whole high school - not just for seniors. The inclusion of an underclassmen section full of portraits and candids made sound business sense as well. By expanding the book's coverage to include all students we increased our potential sales market by more than 75 percent.

In another dramatic first, the staff produced two yearbooks instead of just the usual one that has traditionally been available in the fall of the following year. At the Senior Dinner in June seniors received a 48-page "Graduation Edition" with their portraits and parting words ("senior blurbs" as we called them) below their pictures. The supplement gave seniors the opportunity for the first time to sign a yearbook while still attending WHS. The staff wanted seniors to have something to reflect upon at graduation, sign, and carry with them as they left for college and the world beyond.

Even parents were part of this year's book. Many parents took advantage of a special "message" section in the Graduation Edition to say congratulations and wish their sons and daughters the best in the years to come with baby pictures, poems and other expressions of warmth.

Another distinct feature to this year's book is the full-color cover design by art editor Joe Knaus. Joe, a senior, was recognized by The Boston Globe as one of the state's finest high school artists. Joe's artwork is featured on the covers of both the Graduation Edition and the regular yearbook, and is used on the divider pages to introduce the various sections.



The complete 1994 WHS Yearbook Staff.

Those are a few of the more notable production changes that the staff hopes will distinguish this yearbook from all the rest. We'll leave the other maybe less evident but equally important changes for you to discover and enjoy as you turn these pages.

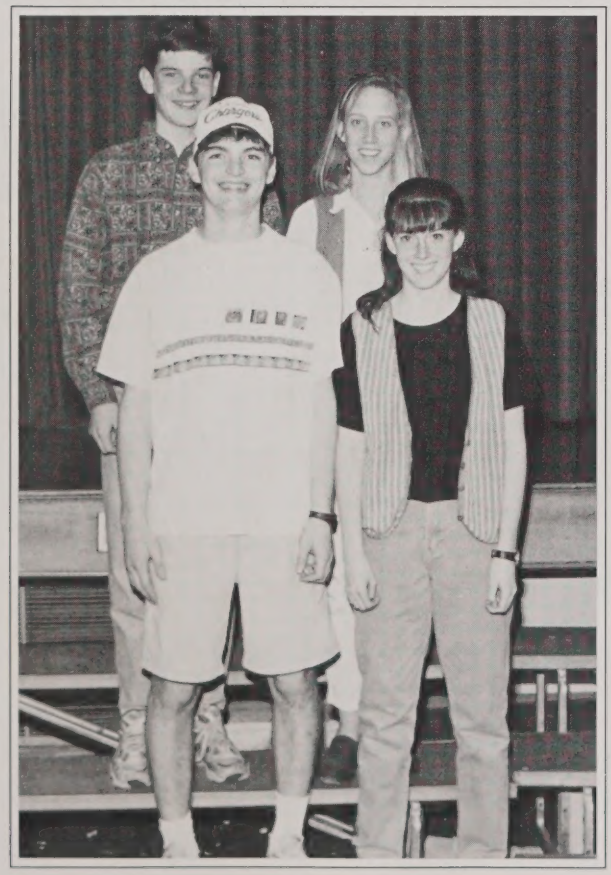
As an activity the yearbook is many things. It is a wonderful educational opportunity for students especially in the age of computer publishing and design. It involves thousands of hours of dedication and hard work under endless deadline pressure. It calls for strong organization, and journalistic creativity in writing, photography, and design. It's a business and like any business the staff has to be concerned with the bottom line - making a profit. That means effective marketing, advertising and sales strategies. Even for the most seasoned professionals, putting together a profitable, readable, 200-plus page book, is no easy task. Within this ominous mix is the realization that not everything is always going to be perfect.

As difficult as it may seem a talented and dedicated group of young adults came together this year in fine style to produce a yearbook that we hope you will find is "Simply the Best" ever produced at WHS.

Class Officers

Freshman

The Class of 1997 had an eventful year with the assistance of class advisor Ms. Gula. They held their first high school class officer elections and paid their first class dues. The class organized a semi-formal dance in the fall. The big event of the year was a basketball game featuring the New England Patriots vs. the faculty of WHS. This class can look forward to three more years of excitement.



Sophomores

The class of 1996 sold t-shirts with environmental themes as their main fundraising activity. Sophomore year fundraising traditionally begins the preparation for the prom and graduation in coming years. Ms. Mason, a first year teacher at WHS, was the class advisor. Among her responsibilities were to aid the officers in collecting class dues and fundraising for the class treasury.

Juniors ~ Prom Committee

Once again the prom was an exciting evening for all. This year the credit goes to the class of 1995. On May 13, WHS students arrived at Demetri's ready for a night of dancing and fun. The Prom Committee (below) decided on the theme of "Heaven" based on the song by Brian Adams. Class advisor Mrs. Hampe praised the class officers (left) for being very willing and helpful.

Seniors

Senior class officers and advisors are an essential part of a successful senior year. This year was no exception. Miss Barr and Mr. Brown pooled their efforts in order to assist the officers with their responsibilities such as class dues, caps and gowns, graduation rehersals, class gift, and graduation. Also, for the first time the class sponsored a Senior Dinner. The spirit and enthusiasm of this class set a good example for others to follow.

Clubs

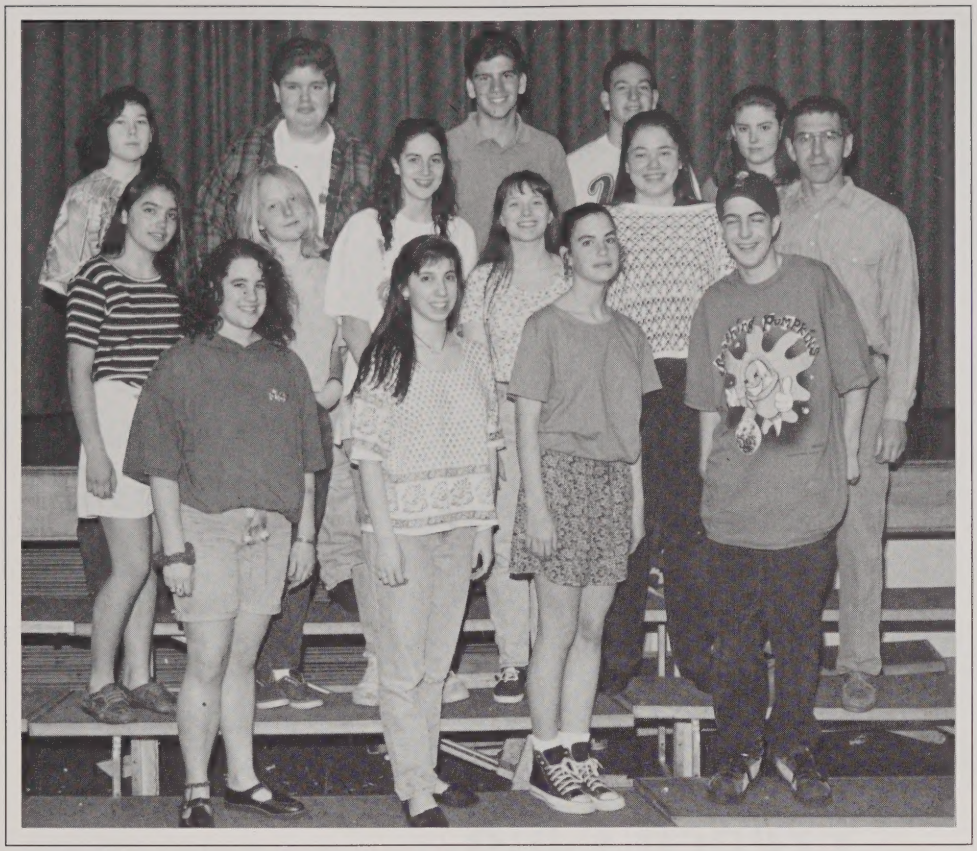
Math Team

The Math Team had an extremely successful season. They qualified for the playoffs placing seventh out of 23 teams in their division. Ms. Delello (bottom right) diligently worked all year to prepare the team for a victorious finish.



Science Club

Science club members meet to watch science movies and discuss current issues. Doing their part to preserve our planet, this year members placed a metal can recycling box in the cafeteria. Typically, the club is for students interested in the environment and science related issues. Mr. Bertucci (middle row, far right) advises the science club.

Academic Decathlon

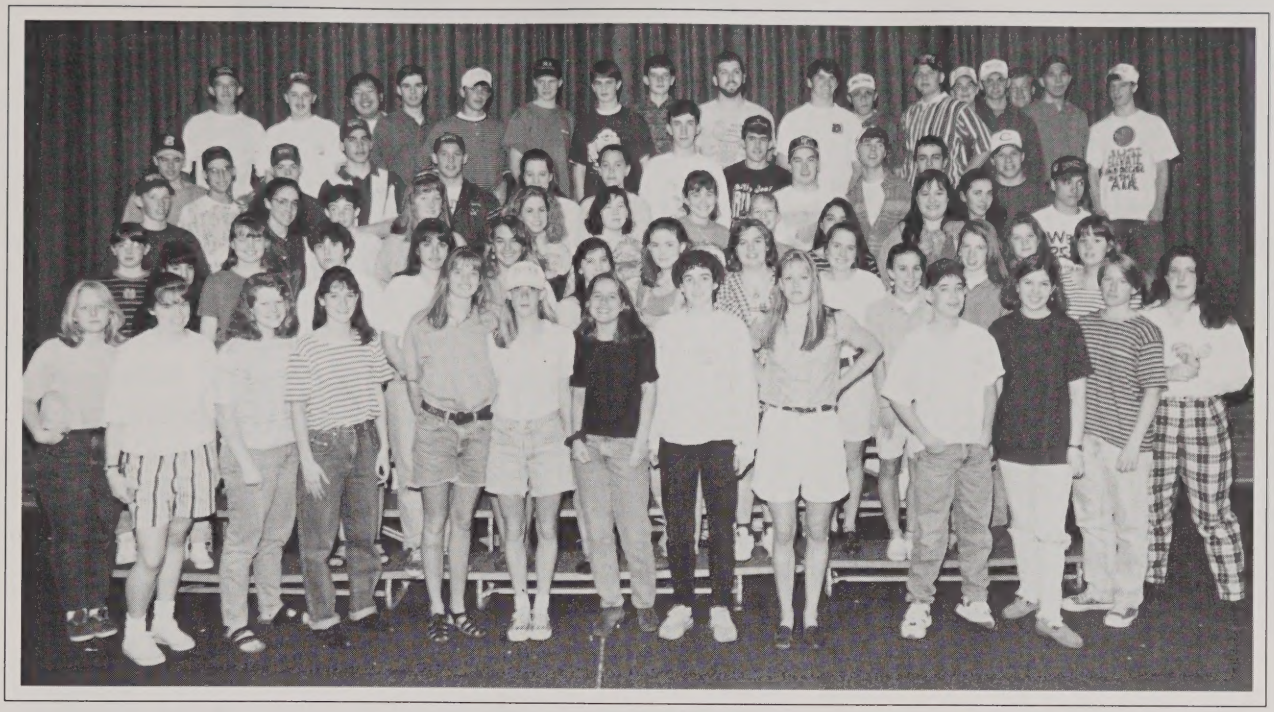
Putting in long hours, this year's Academic Decathlon team made the most of their talents. Under the coaching of Mr. Hardy, the team placed fifth in the State Finals. Their fifth place showing was the second highest in WHS history. In an extremely competitive year, this year's team proved to be outstanding.

French Club

Back again this year, the French Club was revived after a three year hiatus by Mr. Haddad and Miss Cole. Its first event was a Christmas Party which included the Buche de Noel, a special chocolate cake especially for Christmas. They finished off the year with a dinner at a local French restaurant.

Spanish Club

The Spanish Club is advised by Mr. Watson and Mr. Capone. This year's group sponsored two trips. One in April to Providence to see an on-stage production of "Man of La Mancha". And club members made their annual trip to Boston to eat at a Spanish restaurant and shop in Harvard Square. The group looks forward to another successful trip to Spain in the summer of 1995.



Latin Club

This year, the Latin Club diligently planned its two-week trip to Rome this summer. Advised by Latin teacher Mrs. Calf, the club is made up of students enrolled in Latin classes. In May the group held its annual Roman Banquet that traditionally marks the end of their activities for the year.

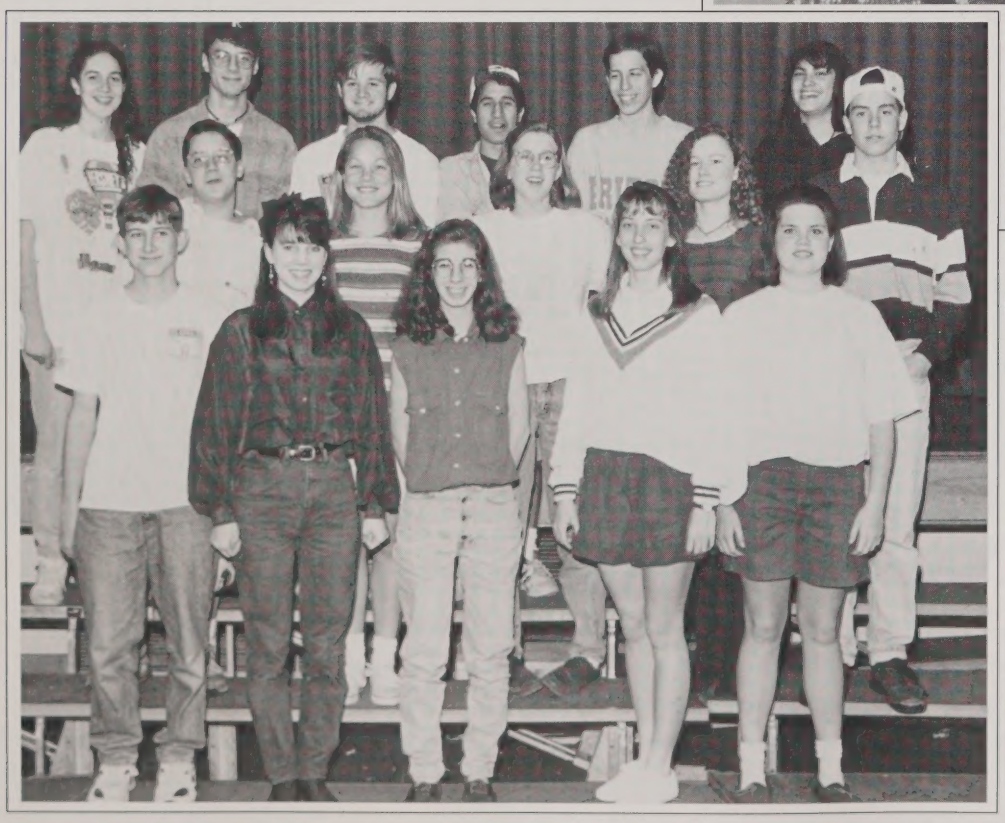
National Honor Society

Inducted at the end of their junior year, this outstanding group of students has maintained above average standards in categories such as scholarship, responsibility, and leadership. For National Honor Society students the induction ceremony is a special event. At this ceremony each senior may recognize a teacher who has influenced them. Mr. Joy organizes the Walpole Chapter of the National Honor Society.

Drama Club

This year's drama club was enhanced by many newcomers, including director Mr. D'Attilio. The first successful production was the fall drama The Stage Door. The musical this year was Once Upon A Mattress, a parody of the Princess and the Pea.

"Oh my sweetness, I'll cherish you forever."



Jazz Band

The jazz band finished off another successful year with the annual Pops Night. Under the tutelage of Mr. Reynolds, the band worked hard all year to prepare for the competition in Virginia. However a near-tragic and much publicized bus accident en route to the competition put an end to the trip and dashed the band's hopes of national recognition.

Madrigals

For the second year, the harmonious voices of the Madrigal Choir were directed by Mr. Falker. This selective group raised funds for the music department by selling Carol-O-Grams (below) during the Christmas season.

Jazz Choir

The jazz choir made its debut this year under the direction of Mr. Haddad. They replaced the show choir of previous years. The group developed their jazz technique focusing on the traditional jazz music style.

Radio Club

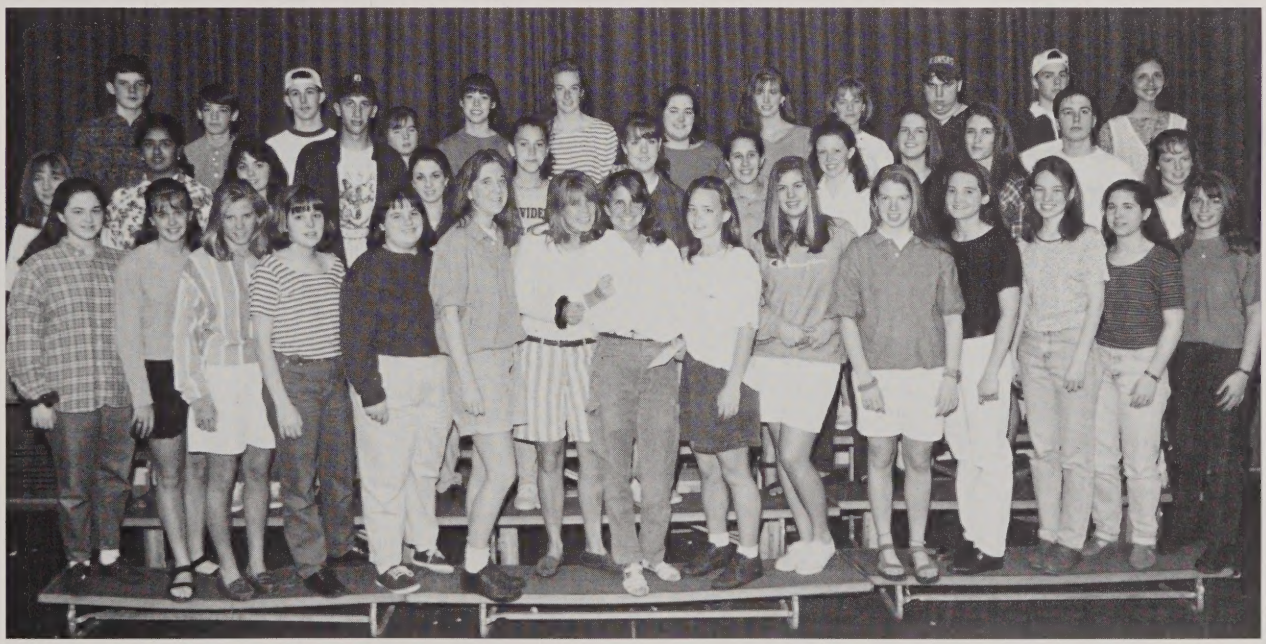
This club gives students the opportunity to learn about radio broadcasting. Students have a weekly time slot to produce their own show. They can choose their own music and commentary to intersperse with public service announcements. With the help of Miss Gula, students gain valuable radio experience and have fun doing it.

Video Club

Under the direction of Ms. Gula, this hard-working group produces the morning announcements in homeroom everyday. Members work as news reporters, sports reporters, camera operators, and floor directors. The group also produces the prom video for students to purchase as a souvenir. Like the radio club this organization provides students with an opportunity to learn about broadcasting.

S.A.D.D.

With their new advisor Mr. Demeo, members of Students Against Drunk Driving effectively got their message across with different activities about the deadly consequences of driving drunk. Their greatest campaign came during prom week with daily announcements about the perils of drunk driving. As well, that week they simulated the number of alcohol related deaths in a 24-hour period by painting students' faces white (signifying death). Students were then prohibited from conversing with those who were dead.



Peer Leaders

Led by Mrs. Nashawaty, Peer Leaders take part in teaching students in elementary and middle school about the effects of drugs and alcohol. During the Christmas season, leaders visit the New Pond Village Nursing Home in an effort to bring happiness to others. The group's main fundraiser is an annual Pre-Prom Fashion Show, to showcase student fashion with the support of local businesses.

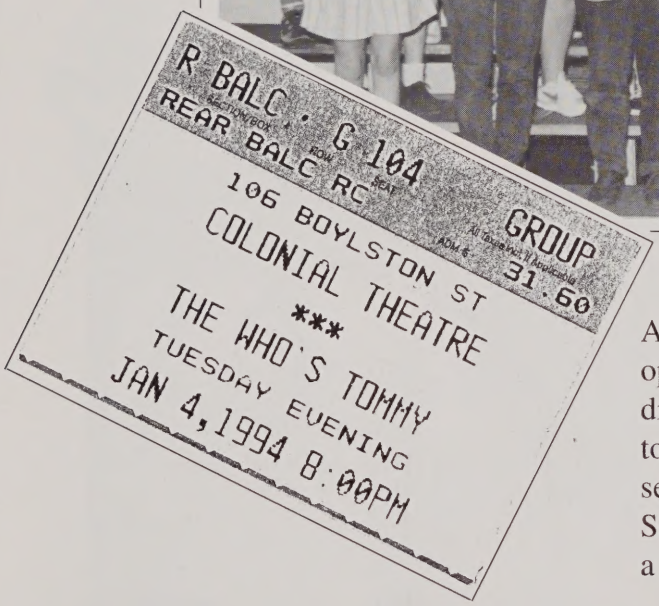
The REBELLION

An award winning year

Under the skilled direction of journalism teacher Mrs. Sullivan, the talented staff of The Rebellion produced four newspapers this year. With the help of many senior and junior veterans, the staff won first place among 70 high school newspapers throughout the region in a contest sponsored by the New England Scholastic Press Association. Many members of the staff were also recognized for their individual work. The underclassmen on the staff look forward to another successful year.

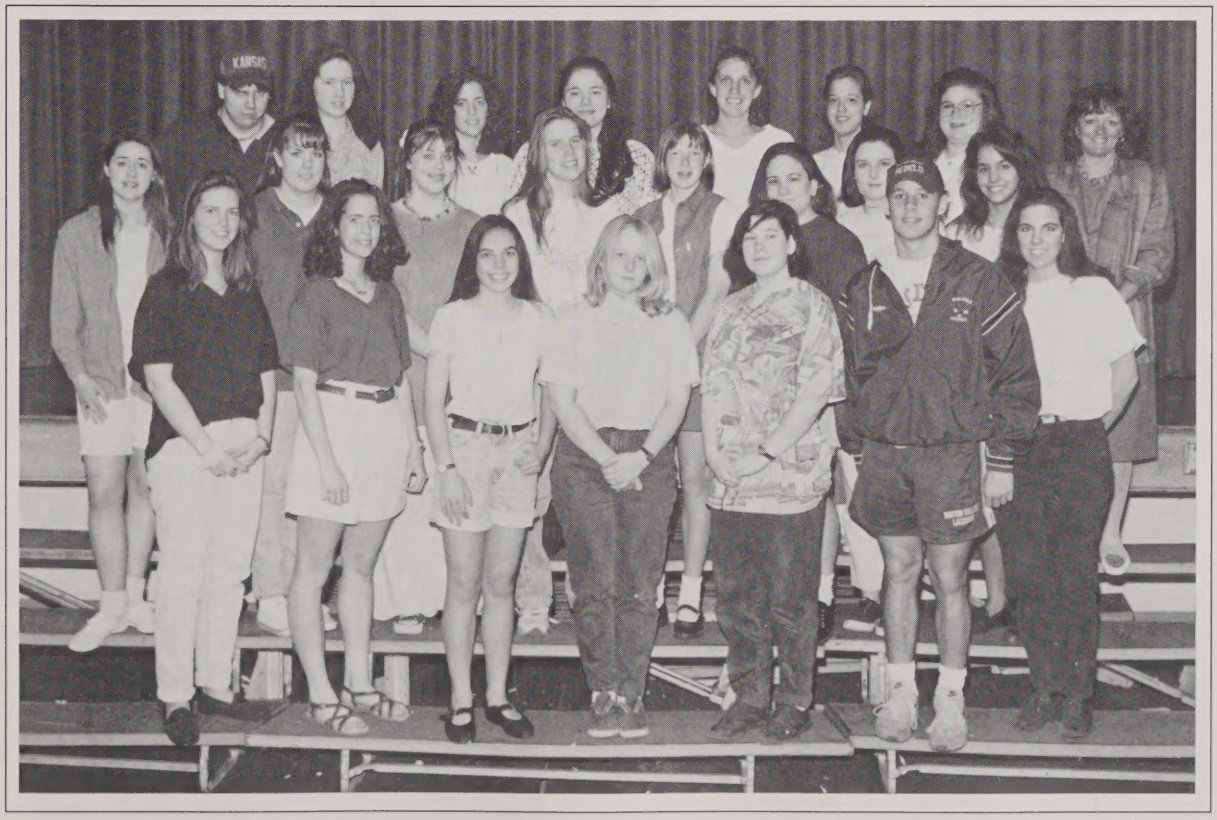
Labyrinth

Produced annually, The Labyrinth is WHS's creative writing magazine. Composed of poems, short stories and other writings, the magazine is for any student who wishes to participate. Ms. Culliton (back row, right) is the magazine's advisor.



PM Club

A new organization this year, the PM Club gave students an opportunity to explore and see what Boston has to offer. Under the direction of Mrs. Segal, the group traveled to Boston for a walking tour, to see TOMMY -the broadway hit at the Colonial Theatre, to see the movie The Scent of Green Papaya, and to visit the Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum. Each of these trips to the city included a nontraditional dinner for students to experience.



Art Club

With the guidance of Mrs. Hampe, the Art Club contributed to WHS in numerous ways. This year they assisted the drama department, the prom committee, and the student council. In addition to school events they took a day trip to New York for a museum visit. One of the highlights of the year was their donation of an umbrella they decorated to the Wang Center.

Student Council

The Student Council successfully sponsored a number activities to make '93 -'94 an enjoyable and memorable school year for all. Under the guidance of Mrs. Pearson (far right) the elected board organized Homecoming, field day, the talent show, a blood drive, dances, and powder puff football.

Project Close-up

Each year in March Ms. Geogeghan takes a group of students to Washington D.C. for a week to get a "close-up" look at our government in action. This year students took part in workshops to gain a better understanding of how the three branches of government interact and operate.

Humans Only

Humans Only is a caring group of individuals who believe they can make a difference in the world. Started two years ago by two Walpole High students with the help of Mr. Weisgerber, the group meets to discuss current issues pertaining to WHS. During the winter they held a food and blanket drive for the shelters in Boston.

HERGET HEROES AGAIN

It's lonely at the top for 'Knighty' and the Running Rebel's.

Boys make it six straight titles

Erker notches 100th victory

It was to have been a rebuilding year for the boys cross country team after winning back-to-back state championships. But the boys weren't content with that label. They kept their reputation as a perennial force intact with their sixth straight Herget League crown.

The harriers were led by 'fab five' seniors Kevin Dolan, Brian Donohue, Capt. Tim Sweeney, Capt. John Carchedi, and Mark Knight. They finished with a mark of 8-2 (both losses were by one point). Despite the losses, the squad unquestionably proved they were the best team in the league. In the Bay State Conference meet they embarrassed the competition. "Chi-Chi", Enrique Segura, and "Knighty" took places three, four, and five respectively in the field of 100.

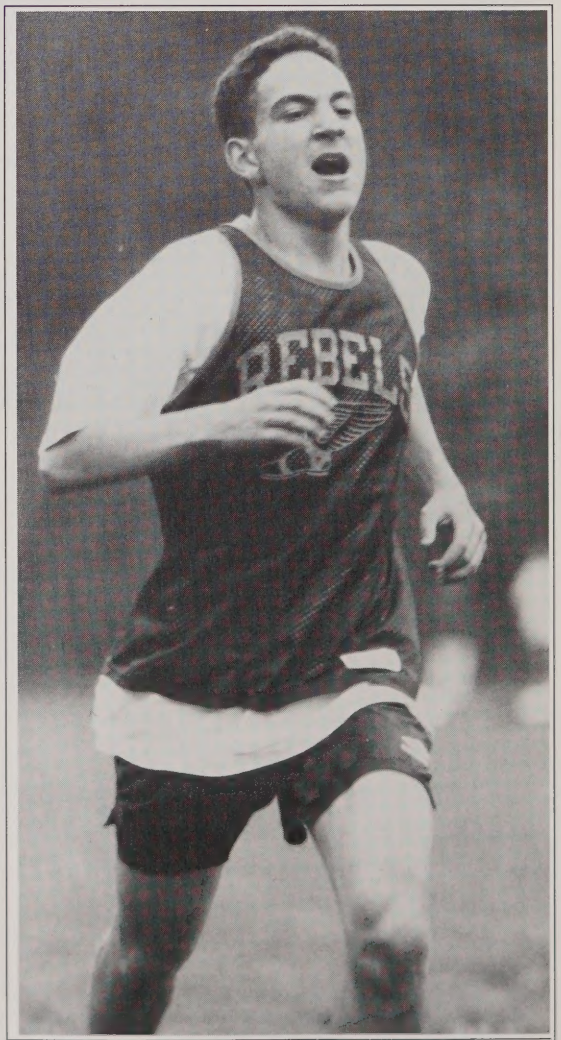
However, like last year, the talented squad was riddled with injuries. The most severe injury was to standout Tim Sweeney. But the gaps were quickly filled by newcomer Alan Weatherbee, Spanish exchange student Segura, and underclassmen Kevin Gray and Jason Johanessen.

Segura's kick burst onto the scene and made an immediate impact. 'Knighty' got things rolling this season as he went from eighth man in '92 to number one in the first half of the season. Donohue fought back from injuries to be a key contributor, and Dolan backed up his reputation as the B.S.L's steadiest runner.

Carchedi was awarded the Daily Transcript's "Runner of the Year" while Knight and Segura distinguished themselves with All-Star honors.

The highlights of the season came against Norwood and Framingham. The Norwood Mustangs were looking to beat the Rebels for the first time in a decade. But the locals had other ideas. Led by Chi-Chi's first ever victory, Walpole took five of the top seven places. The win sealed the Herget division title.

Against the Framingham Flyers, the last home meet for the seniors, the Runnin' Rebels entered coach Jim Erker's name in the history books. Erker notched career victory 100. Against only 14 losses, Erker has proved he's one of the state's best cross country coaches.



"Chi-Chi" strains for the finish line in victory.

Making a name for themselves

Young program full of promise

The girls cross country team at Walpole High School is but three years old. What the program may lack in experience, the girl's more than compensate for with guts and determination.

In three short years the young harriers have proved to be a perennial force and a feared opponent in the Herget league. For the second year in a row they finished with an impressive 8-2 record. Last year's squad tied Norwood as Herget Division Champions and this year they again contended for the title. However, come race day, Norwood's experience edged the Rebels out.

However, these girls weren't just another bunch of "also-rans." The varied crew consisted of Division II state champion Claire Kelley, Laurie McDonough and most consisted runners - one of the smartest sensation Jen McSweeney, in the state, sophomore freshmen, and senior Kate a promising group of start originals who made a Gallahue one of the up- name for this team.

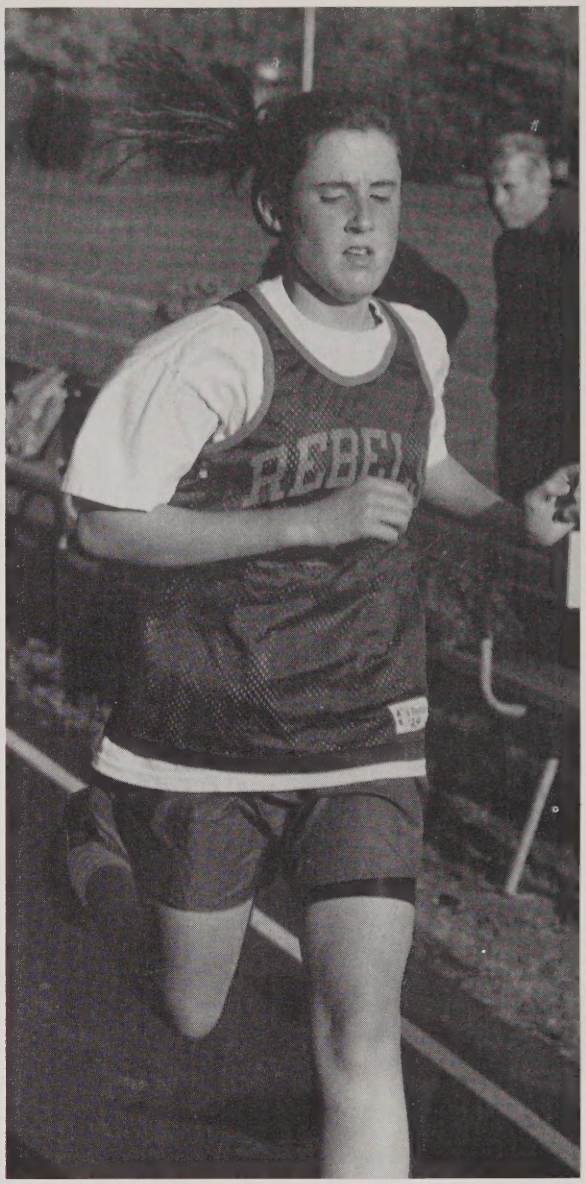
Junior Claire Kelley takes the state championship

Kelley was un- stoppable. The junior went undefeated, winning all 10 dual meets, the Coaches Invitational, the Conference meet, the Eastern Mass. Meet, and finally blowing away the competition in the States. Kelley was named the Daily Transcript's Runner of the Year.

McDonough, Kelley and Gallahue captained the squad. The trio chose to lead by example, with Kelley winning everything, and McDonough and Gallahue fighting through injuries and illness to make sure the team was solid throughout. McDonough was named as an All-Star by the Daily Transcript.

It's not easy for freshmen to make an impact in a sport so new to the school but the trio of Jen Munro, Julie Peckam and Maria Brown quickly adapted and provided extra punch to the Rebel attack. McSweeney was a pleasant surprise as the harrier came out of nowhere to be Walpole's number two runner and capture 11th place out of 100 in the conference meet. Like McDonough, McSweeney was honored as an All-Star by the Daily Transcript.

With six of their top eight runners returning next year, once again Coach Jim Erker's squad is certain to be a contender for the Herget League title.



Senior captain Kate Gallahue finishes strong.

Senior Laurie McDonough leads the pack under the stadium stands. McDonough was named a league All-Star by the Daily Transcript.

Porkers take South Sectionals

Collins named league M.V.P.

Led by captains Heather Golding and Ann Marie Lennon, the Porkers were flawless (15-0) during the regular season and clinched the Bay State League title this year. As the first seed in the South Sectional tournament Walpole defeated respected opponents Norwood 1-0, Sandwich 3-2, and Dennis-Yarmouth 3-2 in overtime.

However, the storybook season ended with a heartbreaking 1-0 overtime loss to Weston under the lights at Wakefield High School.

The 15-0 season was a first for the Porkers. The highlights were the three victories over neighboring Norwood and an emotional win against Dennis-Yarmouth in the South Sectionals. The powerful Porkers flexed their muscle in mid-season defeating defending state champions Dartmouth in a weekend scrimmage.

This year's squad was led by a close group of seniors and a talented corps of juniors and sophomores. Undoubtedly the team's success will not soon be forgotten.

Junior forward Judy Collins was named All-Scholastic by the Boston Globe, the Daily Transcript's Player of the Year, and the Bay State League's Most Valuable Player. Golding, junior Meghan Dwyer, and juniors Jill and Alissa Saunders were League All-Stars recognized by the Transcript. Sophomore standout Tina McDavitt was also recognized by the B.S.L.

Grant begins new Rebel era

Tradition of winning continues

In the first season of the Chuck Grant era, the Rebels ended the year with an admirable 7-4 mark. Led by captains Brian Collins and Jared Vance, the underrated squad turned a few heads this fall, put up some impressive numbers, and kept their critics quiet. It was the 25th consequtive season the Rebels finished with a winning record.

The highlight of the year came in their final contest against perennial powerhouse Waltham on Thanksgiving Day, Walpole used a 49-yard touchdown rumble by Collins, a sneak by first year QB Scott Wilson, and the great "Rebel Crush Defense" to shoot down the Hawks. It was sweet revenge as the Hawks beat the locals last Thanksgiving and their fans tore down the wall at Turco field.

Justin Eldrige ended his career at Walpole second on the all-time rushing list. Collins finished up first on the all-time list for tackles. Vance made his presence known all year and was rewarded with an invitation to the Shriners' game.

After coming back from a knee injury, Eldridge quickly made his claim as the best back in the Bay State League. He consistently turned in quality performances such as his 162-yard effort against Needham. The Daily Transcript recognized him as the Player of the Year. Collins, Vance, Brian Lambert, and Dan Kay were selected as All Stars.

The gridders were also led by seniors Gabe White, Tim Davis, Scott Milligan, Jason Aiken, Pat Tannous, and Myles Soto.

In an article in The Daily Transcript, Coach Grant lauded the upperclassmen who lead his squad.

"The seniors were fantastic," he said, "They were unselfish. They had a tough task this year with the changing of the guard, but they stuck it out all the way. I couldn't have asked for a better group."

As for the next year, Grant will retain Wilson and a corps of talented underclassmen. His first year behind him, Grant will be looking to improve upon his 7-4 mark and continue Walpole's 25-year winning tradition.

Golfers take third Bay State league title in four years

The 1993 golf team finished their season with an impressive 10-3 overall record. Team captain and two-time Bay State League All-Star Mike Laurino, along with fellow senior Mike Costello, led the team to their third Bay State League title in the past four years.

Captain and two-time league All Star Mike Laurino led the way

All-Star honors went out to Laurino, junior Greg Wall, and sophomore Craig Anzlovar. Laurino and Anzlovar were also selected to compete in the state individual tournament.

History making season

10-4-1 record is best yet

The boys soccer team had its best season in the program's history. They finished with an impressive regular season mark of 10-4-1 and a bid to the south sectional semi-finals.

The highlight of the year was unquestionably the 3-0 shutout over top-seeded and previously undefeated Sharon. The Rebs were supposed to get blanked by the highly- touted Eagles. But the "Dog Pound," the most feared defensive unit in the state, was once again impenetrable. Two huge goals by senior captain Matt Holland and Attilio DiMascio lifted coach Lee Delaney's troops to victory.

Backed by the "Dog Pound" the Rebels were solid all around

With a solid core of 16 seniors, all of whom have lived through less successful campaigns, this year's squad made a name for itself and proved all the critics wrong.

At the start of the season, Holland proclaimed that if the Rebels could get out of the grueling Bay State League, they would be a force to be reckoned with. The boys backed up his claim and made their way to the states defeating some of the best teams the B.S.L. has to offer.

The Rebels were solid all around. Goalie Justin Van Hoesen broke the school record with eleven shutouts. Van Hoesen was the cornerstone of the "Pound." The defensive unit ferociously guarded the backfield. In the team's 21 games and scrimmages they only allowed 14 goals. Along with the "D", Walpole featured a high powered offense led by seniors Holland, Dan Rosenthal, and Chuck Ash.

Coach Tompkins notches win 100

Bilodeau breaks shoutout record

Despite a ton of injuries to key players, the Rebs once again came through with a winning season. They finished the season with a record of 8-4-6.

With their reputation throughout the league as a team that just "never lets up," their record only tells part of their story and does not fully reflect their consistently intense level of play.

One of the Year's highlights was the victory over Brockton. With that win coach Tompkins earned his 100 career victory. In another moment to remember, goalie Stacy Bilodeau broke a school record with 25 career shutouts.

Though they didn't qualify for the tournament, the season was filled with many memorable moments such as the thrilling 2-1 victory under the lights over Natick. And let's not forget probably the hardest fought contest of the season against powerhouse Wellesley. The two teams battled it out to a scoreless tie.

The team consisted of 12 seniors, including tri-captains Bilodeau, Kate Nixon, and Katie King. The senior corps came into a growing program that last year took it to the top. As in the past, Coach Tompkins will look to his talented junior and sophomore classes to take over for another successful season next year.

Swimmers take it to the states

Team finishes with 7-4 mark

The swim team shined again this season. Under the guidance of long-time mentor coach Cheryl Mealey, the dedicated squad tore up the Bay State League and ended with a 7-4 mark for the second year in a row.

The highlight of the year came in the state meet where sophomore sensations Stef Bierman, Kerri Meelia, and junior Laura Forester were among those to place in their events. These three standouts were the first to ever place in the states in the ten years of girls swimming at WHS.

Bierman and Meelia named as All Stars

Meelia and Bierman were recognized as All-Stars by The Daily Transcript.

Other bright spots were the drowning of arch-rival Norwood 104-82, and interestingly enough, a loss to Wellesley. The powerful Raiders have made their mark year after year as state title contenders. But the Rebs sent shock waves through the water and came within three points of upsetting them.

The squad was captained by seniors Brooke Casey, Erin Ellis, Sarah McLean, and Sue Stokes. Other contributing seniors were Amy Sinatra and Susan Busheme.

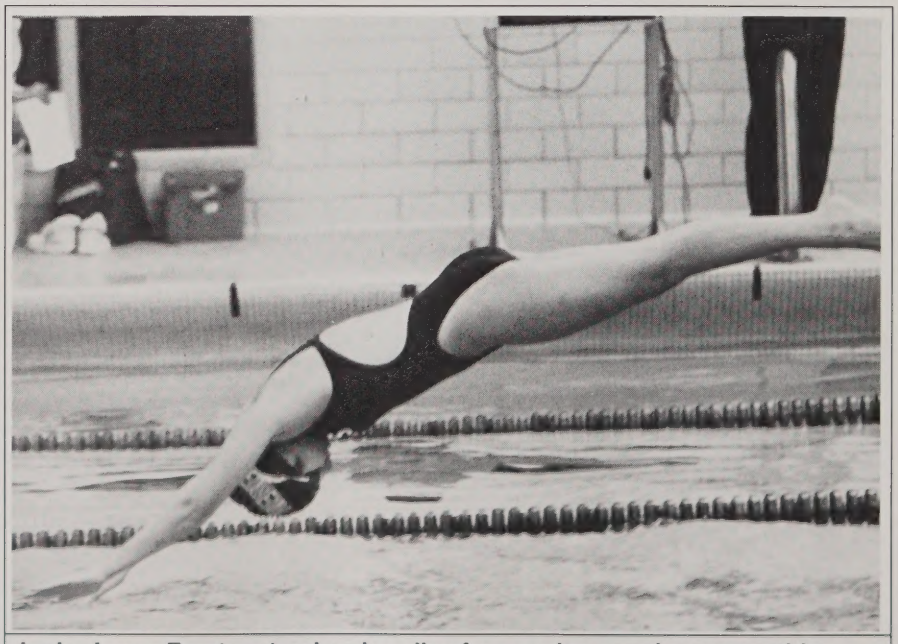
Senior Amy Sinatra is poised for a quick start.



Junior Laura Forster streches her dive for an edge over her competition.

Volleyball finishes 19-3, best ever

Senior Maria Ferullo displays her strength as a back row player.

This year's Volleyball Rebels finished the season with an 18-2 record - the best yet under coach Peter Turco. With their outstanding play they captured the Herget Division title for the second year in a row and once again made it to the state tournament.

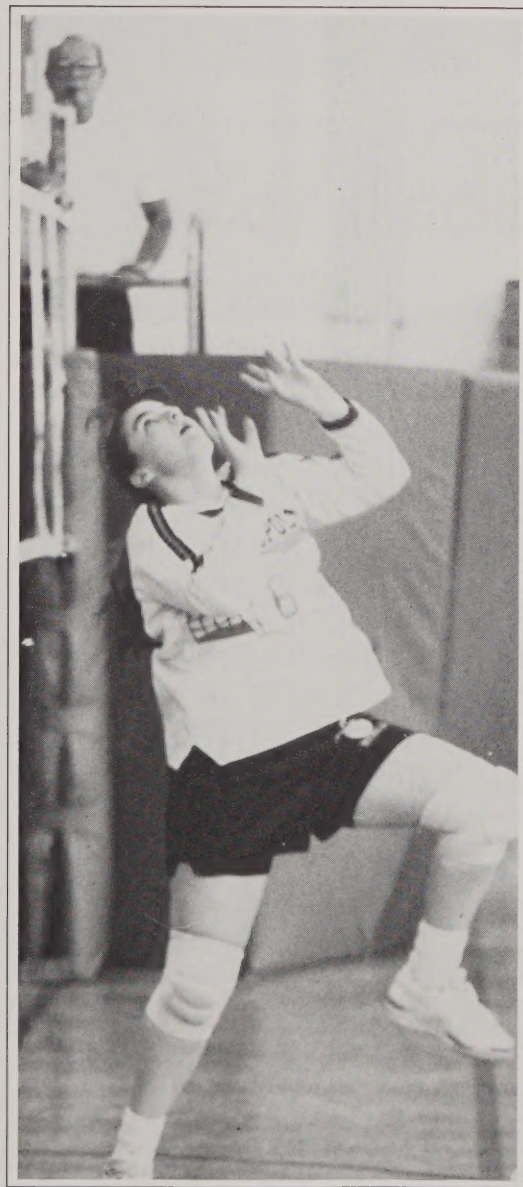
The highlight of the season came in the tourney, when the Rebels knocked off Framingham 3-1 in the Division 1 West Central semifinal game. During the regular season Framingham downed the Rebs 2-0. The scrappy Walpole team advanced to the next round but bowed out to number one seed and eventual state champ Marlboro.

Defeat Framingham in States

The hard-working and enthusiastic Rebs included seven seniors: Laura Cork, Maria Ferullo, Julie Gavin, Danielle Levy, Emma Palmacci (capt.), Kimberly Rando (capt.), and Jennifer Stobbart (capt.).

Gavin and Rando were known as two of the best setters in the Bay State League. And the back court play of Ferullo, "Corkie," and junior standout Kristen Marshall made the crowds erupt during the season.

Next year coach Turco is losing a ton of experience and talent. He will be pinning his hopes on Marshall, another junior standout Kerri Sullivan, and a potent crop of underclassmen to repeat this year's outstanding performance.



Senior Julie Gavin sets the ball in play.

Rebels defeat Norwood

The Walpole Boys Basketball team was a squad with a lot of promise, little luck, and quite a few heartbreaking losses. Unquestionably, their 6-14 record was not indicative of their work ethic, talent, or potential this season.

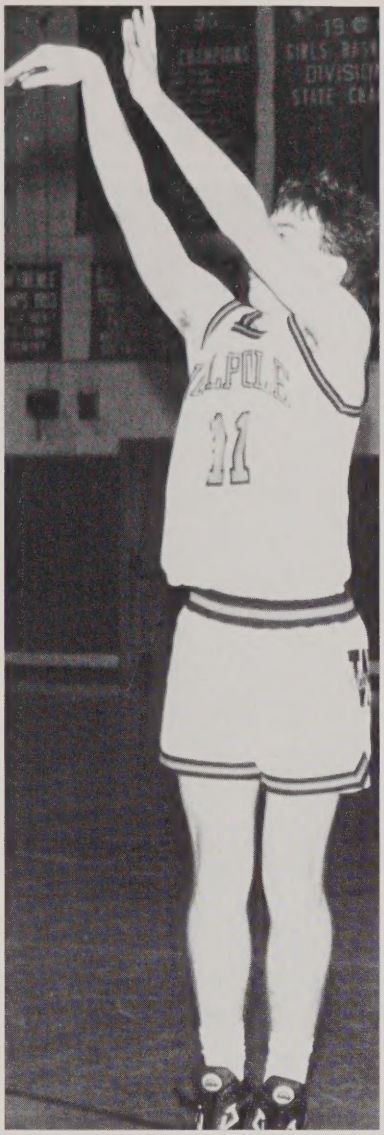
Led by captains Tim Sweeney, Kevin Dolan, and Matt Holland, along with fellow seniors Brian Martin and Kurt Herman, the squad battled every team to the edge. The wins however always seemed to slip away with a bad call, a bad bounce, or a bad break.

Whenever you can shut down the Mustangs and shut up their fans, you've done your job.

Despite the losses the squad never made excuses, and the season was not without its highlights. Sweeney, guard Peter Scott, and the rest of the Rebels pulled out a bit of last minute magic in the first round of the Oliver Ames Holiday Tournament tying and then outscoring Foxboro with seconds left.

Another season highlight was the Rebels 60-57 win at Norwood. Whenever you can shut down the Mustangs and shut up their fans, you've done your job.

Sweeney, Scott, and Dolan were chosen as Bay State League All-Stars.



Captain Kevin Dolan skies for two.

A banner year

The '93-'94 Rebel girls basketball team will go down in history as one of the greatest squads ever to play the game at Walpole High School - period. Led by senior captains Katie O'Leary, who played varsity hoop all four years, and Stacy Bilodeau, credited as the best female athlete at gradua- tion, the team took home the program's third state champi- onship. The team featured Kerri Sullivan, considered by some the best post player in the state, and one of the most tenacious and feared de- fenses in the state led by jun- iors Colleen McCrave and Judy Collins. With the luxury of a bench that could go at least ten deep, coaches Sue Brainard and Steve Waisgerber made it all pos- sible to take another state championship.

The '93-'94 girls basketball team will go down in history as one of the greatest squads ever to play the game at Walpole High School.

With losses to rival Norwood and future Div. III state champion Medway, the team started the season with a disappointing 3-2 record. But the mighty Rebels would not be denied and rattled off 21 straight wins. The most sat- isfying victories were probably the revenge games against Norwood, and later Masconomet. In the grudge match against Norwood, the Rebels made ponies of the Mustangs defeating them 57-38.

Masconomet halted Walpole's run for a title in 1993 by defeating the locals on the parquet floor at Boston Garden in the EMass final. But the teams met again this year at historic Boston Garden for the EMass title. This time Walpole made the most of the opportunity and took the crown from last year's champs with a 43-35 victory.

In the State Championship game against Bartlett, the West-Central Massachu- setts champs, the Rebels were led by their seniors and out-hustled the competition 49-41 for the crown and the right to be called the greatest team in the state.

Framingham rematch is sweet revenge.

Captain Rob MacDonald and fellow seniors Brian Collins, Scott Peck, Ed Poitras, Jeff Kenney, Alan Weatherbee, Jamie Tripp and Brian Lambert were primed and ready for a great 1993-94 season. With a strong corps of underclassmen to join the veterans, coach Ed Kirrane had one of his most powerful nucleuses in recent years.

Preseason injuries to All-star Poitras and defenseman Mike Cook hampered the Rebel's start. But with the return of Poitras, the team rattled off seven straight wins.

The mid-season winning streak left the Rebs in good shape for a highly anticipated rematch against Framingham, one of the state's best teams. After an embarrassing 13-2 loss in the first meeting, the locals were ready for revenge. Revenge was sweet. Thanks to a MacDonald goal late in the third, a wall-like goaltending effort by Tripp, and their best defensive game of the year, Walpole won 3-2.

The Rebels finished the season with an impressive 15-6-1 mark. Junior goalie Jeff Todd, who shared duties with Tripp, finished with an admirable 10-1 record, and was aptly chosen to captain next year's squad.

RUNNING INTO HISTORY

Rebels down Norwood to take league crown

In the '92-'93 winter track season, the Rebels had as much talent, if not more, than any squad in recent years. However due to some untimely injuries and a heartbreaking loss to rival Norwood, the squad didn't receive the acclaim it may have deserved. Instead of making history, last year's squad became just another page in a scrapbook.

The '93-'94 team had other plans. Led by captains Brian Pendergast and John Carchedi, the senior dominated team (Paul Reynard, Enrique Segura, Scott Milligan, Myles Soto, Justin VanHoesen, Mark Knight, Brian Donohue, Martin Baker, Steve Pruell, and Brian Leardo) tore up the Bay State League in a snow-shortened season to set up a rematch with the Mustangs.

A curse dating back to 1959, Walpole had never beaten Norwood in either winter or spring track.

A curse dating back to 1959, Walpole had never beaten Norwood in either winter or spring track. Losing to Norwood year in and year out, the Rebels had never won a league title.

On a mission to be the first to turn the tide, the members of this year's squad turned in fantastic performances against the Mustangs. Though the Rebels were outworking their opponents, the local's lack depth evened things up. The meet and the title came down to the final event, the relay. With the crowd erupting, Carchedi, Reynard, Segura, and Pendergast ran away with the win, and a page in WHS running history.

Senior captains Mike Lamonica (130) and Jason Aiken (152), as well as Dan Ferris (125), Paul Ferri (140), Pete Valle (152), Tim Davis (189), and Jared Vance (heavy weight) were the driving force behind the team's success.

The squad started off on top placing first in the King Phillip Tourney. One of the season's highlights came in the final regular season contest against Dedham. Lamonica squared off against rival marauder Mike Curran. The two had squared off before and basically split evenly. But on this night it was Lamonica who got the upper hand.

The squad started out on top placing first in the King Phillip Tourney.

The season's best surprise was sophomore Eddie Verrochi, who made the best of his chance to step up to varsity midway through the year going all the way to the finals of the class meet. Lamonica and Vance were also finalists in the class meet.

STRIKING DOMINANCE

Rebels finish strong with 16 - 7 record

Pitcher Matt Holland fires another strike as senior Gabe White positions himself at first base.

After a rough 1-5 start, coach Bill Tompkins' club came roaring back this season to win 13 of their last 14 games. Though the squad finished the regular season behind eventual Herget Division winner Milton, their inspired mid to end-of-season play propelled them through the state tournament. The Rebels capped off the season in the states with big wins over Hingham and rival Natick before falling to New Bedford 3 -1.

The senior dominated squad was led by captains Matt Holland and Brian Lambert. Other senior stars were Mike Scarlata, Brian Collins, Kevin Dolan, Dan Sorantos, Steve Pruell, Gabe White, Brian Leardo, and Jim Sanzi.

Lambert was named the Daily Transcript's Player of the Year for his work in center field, on the mound, at the plate, and for his base stealing prowess. However, Lambert was not the only Rebel to be honored. Collins, Scarlata, Songin and Holland were also recognized by the Transcript.

After coming off an ankle injury, Scarlata returned as the most dominate hurler in the Bay State Conference, recording an impressive 7-2 record with a 1.47 ERA. Junior J.P. Rebuilding year full of sweet revenge

Nineteen ninety four was labeled as a rebuilding year for the Rebel boys tennis team. Though the squad finished below .500, big wins over rivals Dedham and Braintree, and an end-of-the-season upset over powerhouse Milton proved to the league that the Rebels had more than just long term goals.

The squad was led by senior captain Alan Weatherbee and classmates Mike Robinson and Scott Cunnane. The Rebels also featured a number of talented underclassmen as well. Freshman Bill Greener came out of nowhere to claim the first singles spot. Freshman Paul Brigham joined Weatherbee at first doubles, junior Josh Langmead claimed second singles, and sophomore Chris Kramer held onto the number three spot.

It was a rebuilding year but the Rebels had more than just long term goals.

A day after the Milton win, Walpole took advantage of their revengeful mood and topped King Phillip 3-2. King Phillip soured the season opener for the Rebels by beating the locals by the very same score.

Girls serve up second Herget title in two years

Coach Joanne Sprague knew her tennis team was loaded with talent. After all, they had only lost one player to graduation from the 1993 Herget Division winning team. This year's squad started right where they left off a year ago.

Walpole tore through the regular season, not only beating opponents but pummeling them. They finished with a 14-1 regular season record and repeated as league champs. The Rebels then served and volleyed their way to the South Sectional finals.

Kelly Norton dominated the competition for the third year in a row.

Senior captain Kelly Norton took her place at first singles and dominated the competition for the third year in a row. Second singles belonged to super frosh Julie Peckham who only lost twice all year. Seniors Gail Fasenello and Laura Cork split time at the third spot.

The Saunders twins, Jill and Alissa again ruled first doubles, with senior Kate Nixon and junior Jen Lougee at second.

Norton, Peckham, Nixon, Lougee, and both Saunders were chosen as Daily Transcript All Stars.

OVERALL RECORD 0 - 8

The 1994 boys track team began the season with great expectations and some very talented athletes. Unfortunately for the Rebels, there wasn't enough of those athletes. The squad had to tackle all seventeen events with usually only sixteen harriers. They finished the season 0-8, but never gave up, and always shined individually.

Seniors Enrique Segura (capt. 800m), Brian Pendergast (400), Scott Milligan (300 hurdles), John Carchedi (capt. mile), and Paul Reynard (100m), along with sophomore sensation Kevin Gray (two-mile), scored the majority of Walpole's points, and made their marks as some of the league's best. The rebels were also boosted by underclassmen Tim Cimeno, John Hagberg, Mike Sullivan, Eddie Verrochi, and first-year seniors P.J. Beltramini and Pete Valle.

The heart of the team was the 4x4 relay that went undefeated in dual meets and placed second at the conference meet.

The season highlight was the Conference meet, a meet designed for individual stars and perfectly suited for the Rebels. The league finally realized how strong the Rebels were. Pendergast finished third in the 400m, Gray finished third in the two-mile, Segura finished fourth in the 800m, Milligan placed sixth in the 300 hurdles, and Carchedi copped second in the mile. Almost all of the Rebels who competed in the meet ended the day with personal bests. Gray went on to place second in the Class C meet.

The heart of the team was the 4X400m relay of Pendergast, Segura, Carchedi and Milligan, who went undefeated in dual meets and placed second at the conference meet.

Distance corps carries harriers

Sophomore Jen McSweeney (left), senior captain Laurie McDonough, and freshman Lori Collins break out in front at the start of the two mile.

Rebel track underwent major changes this year. Coaches Lauren Culliton and Bob Murphy moved up to take the head coaching reigns, while former Louisiana State University standout Bob Wyman came aboard to lead the distance corps.

The girls team, led by captains Laurie McDonough, Jen Toran and Erin Ellis, along with fellow seniors Jessica Rice and Catherine Healy, was defined by outstanding individual performances. However, the lack of depth kept them from making waves in the Bay State Conference. The team finished with a 3 -5 mark.

Dwyer, Kelley, and the Collins sisters dominated throughout the season.

The fab four distance aces - Meghan Dwyer, Claire Kelley, Judy Collins and freshman Lori Collins dominated throughout the season. Dwyer went undefeated in the 800m, won the conference meet with an unbelievable 5:07 mile, won the Class meet easily and was nipped by seven hundredths of a second at the All-State meet. She went on to place sixth at the New Englands, and qualified for the nationals in both the mile and 800m. Judy was just as effective. She went undefeated, won the conference and Class meets handily, and placed fifth in the All-State meet.

Kelley and Lori Collins ruled the two mile, with consistent sub-12 minute performances. Lori finished second in the Class meet and won the conference meet.

A pleasant surprise was sophomore high jumper Meg Larsen. She leaped her way to second in the conference meet and placed third in the class meet with a tremendous 5-foot 2-inch jump.

The squad was also lifted by juniors Cindy Manfredi and Jen Bain as well as freshmen sensations Kirsten Joseph, Molly Metcalf and Stephanie Collins.

Freshman Shannon Croak dominates in the dash.

Jen Bain legs out the relay.

Meghan Dwyer wins the 800.

Rebel lax is off and running

Nineteen ninety four marked the third year for girls lacrosse at Walpole. However, due to a coaching vacancy the squad came close to being extinct this season. But midway through the season the girls found Kay Ryan, a teacher at Johnson Middle who took the position and saved girls lax.

The squad played two games in '94, both defeats at the hands of Lexington and powerhouse Milton academy. But the fact that the girls lax program had the chance to continue to grow was more important than any won-loss column.

The team was led by seniors Kelly Cassidy, Sue Stokes, Jessica Tripp, Susan Ibrahim, Maureen Cleveland, Jen Joseph and Suzanne Hargadon.

On the other side, the boys team seeks to be listed as a varsity sport in the near future. After a ton of fundraising off the field and a marked improvement on it, the squad is gaining support.

Led by the net minding senior Jamie Tripp and classmates Paul Ferri, Chuck Ash and Mike Lamonica, the squad moved up from just playing J.V. opponents to full-fledged varsity foes.

Though the squad was held winless, this year marked the first time home games were held on Rebel turf.

Volleyball '93 - '94

Poem by Emma Palmacci

Never before had there been such a bunch,
Who ate up the competition like it was lunch.
We plowed through the Herget,
We stomped on them all.
We hope that 'Turcs' has as much luck next fall.

The spaghetti dinners were so great
Because we all got to stuff our face.
The toilet paper got a little out of hand,
We probably used enough to cover Japan.

If Maria is the chic
who is needed to be found,
She is most likely to be on the ground.
Sprawling and diving,
and digging the spikes,
Being called half-pint, she never did like.

Danielle was another who loved the floor.
She'd dig up one and then go back for more.
We knew it was Dee that Turco was calling,
When he said "Look the leaves are falling."

Chrissy was the team raver
No one could ever out scream her.
When we needed support and cheering,
The Blacka's voice is what you would be hearing.

Carolina thought that Chrissy's cousin was dead,
But she didn't even have a blond hair on her head.
When she was bootin' around on Sully's car
We thought she had lost her mind.
Her south paw hit, no block could ever quite find.

"Hello," she yelled when Turco had no clue.
Kristen, the Marsh, we are talking about you.
We were very glad to have Kristen back this year,
She always attacked the other team without fear.

Bart was our Dairy Queen.
A missed serve from her was rarely seen.
There was that time we wanted to sing,
And Jen busted out do-wa-ditty-ing.

Emma was known for her big head of hair.
We were surprised that she could get in the air.
Down in New Bedford, she gave us quite a fright,
And for many weeks later her eye was a sight.

Kerri was the definition of jam city,
The girl she hit off the head...what a pity.
She was the one who started singing our song,
And she covered up her swears when she did something wrong.

Erin loved to hustle, Erin loved to play,
When Erin was on the court
get out of her way.
Her season was short because she fell ill,
But her team spirit was always there still.

Kim wanted everyone to smell her feet,
And she would never let us fall behind or be beat.
She always kept our bus rides interesting,
"Oh, what a night," was what she would sing.

Julie was a lean mean serving machine,
And she really beat up the other team.
On the way to New Bedford, poor Jules followed Turco down,
And to this day we're surprised we didn't end up in P-town.

Laura was always way too cheery,
Watching her dance in circles made us weary.
She was full of spunk and pizzazz,
We could definitely say she was the team spaz.

Mr. Turco had to put up with this team,
And we definitely had to put up with his scream.
Turco is one of a kind,
A coach like him you will rarely find.
We lost count of his many yellow cards,
He made the refs' jobs terribly hard.
He will always rave until his face turns red,
And he'll never live down,"What do you want me to do,
cut off her head?"

In My Life

There are places I remember all my life,
Though some have changed,
Some forever, not for better,
Some have gone and some remain.

All these places had their moments
With lovers and friends I still can recall.
Some are dead and some are living.
In my life I've loved them all.

But of all these friends and lovers
There is no one compares with you.
And these mem'ries lose their meaning
When I think of love as something new.

Though I know I'll never lose affection
For people and things that went before,
I know I'll often stop and think about them,
In my life I'll love you more.

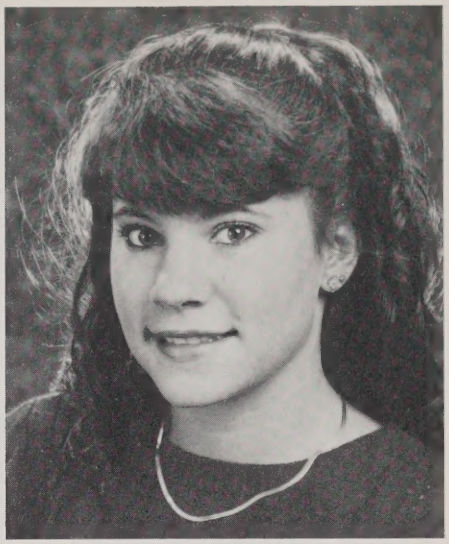
Dreams can become realities ...
over the rainbow!!!

The world is waiting - go out and bless!

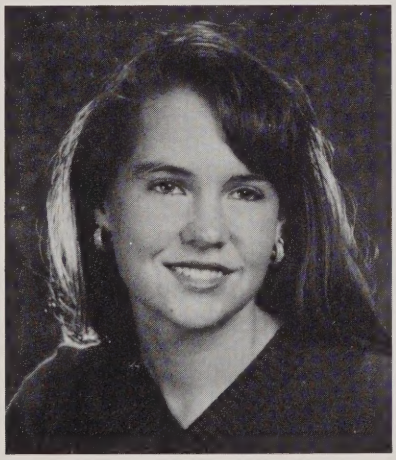
We love you,
Mom, Noelle, and the Family



Danielle,

You've gone through a lot in life so far, but you are that much ahead of everyone your age. You have grown from it and become a stronger person for it. We are so proud of you and know you will succeed in whatever you do in the future.

Love,
Mom and Brian



True worth is in being

True worth is in being, not seeming,
In doing each day that goes by,
Some little good thing, not in dreaming,
Of great things to do by and by.
Whatever men say in their blindness,
In spite of the fancies of youth
There's nothing so kingly as kindness,
And nothing so royal as truth.

Katie, Congratulations! We love you
Mom, Dad, and Michael

Jessica,

Some things don't necessarily change with age. Always keep your positive attitude and you will be Wonderwoman!

We are very proud of you - the best is yet to come!

Our love and best wishes to you always,
Mom, Dad and Jon

WE LOVE YOU!!!

We wanted to find the perfect words to make you realize how much
We need you and love you,
but words continue to elude us.
What would they be?
Something poetic,
We're sure, heartfelt and out of the ordinary.
Everytime we look at you,
the words come out the same...

WE LOVE YOU!!!

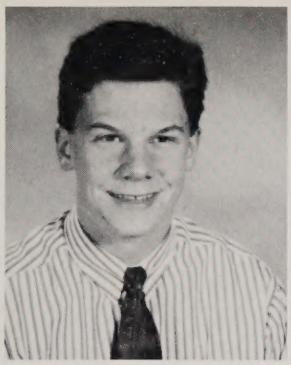
You have been a great source of pride.
I love you,
Mom



Ed

Keep your head up and stay away from the boards. You are ahead in the tournament of life with many games yet to play. Keep smiling and play hard.

Congratulations

Mom, Dad & Family

From the moment we met on the day you were born
An angel we were given from the world beyond
A smile so sweet and eyes so bright
In my darkest hours you were my light
A special child you came to be
To your father, your sister, your brother and me
You gave to us in your special way
Kindness and love, each and every day
From a loving child to a growing teen
All the wonderful changes in you we've seen
The wonderful friends you've made through the years
Remember the sharing of good times and tears
Soccer, peerleading, SADD, and track are a few of the many accomplishments you do
The time has come to let go
To watch in wonder as you grow
We'll miss you honey as you move on
Into the world of college and beyond
Just remember this my little girl
Don't get caught up in the party whirl

Congratulations
